Drifts Northwestward

Small Radiation Cloud Fills Air After U.S. Blast

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — An underground atomic "peace bomb" was exploded by the United States Sunday and unexpectedly released a small, light cloud of radioactive steam into the air.

However, hours later the Atomic Energy Commission said no radioactivity was detected in any communities near the test site.

Winds carried the cloud north-northwestward and AEC officials, soon after the blast, closed the main road leading to Carlsbad, 24 miles northwest of the site.

The AEC said radioactivity on the highway was not above the level set for safety by the government.

About 10 cars caught between roadblocks were taken to Carlsbad to be washed as a precaution, the AEC said. One helicopter was isolated as being contaminated.

The roadblocks were removed 3½ hours after the detonation of the 5-kiloton bomb.

The bomb — exploded nearly a quarter of a mile underground—rocked an observation site 4½ miles away, and kicked up a cloud of surface dust right over the detonating chamber at the end of a 1,100-foot tunnel.

There was no evidence of outward concern on the part of Carlsbad residents.

The AEC had made clear to the public even before the shot that it would not be made if the wind were blowing toward any populated area and scientists determined quickly that the amount of radiation released was relatively small.

Roadblocks and washing of possibly contaminated vehicles was termed purely precautionary since the highest levels of ground radiation found near the site were well below the safety minimums.

Preliminary checks indicated all scientific experiments came through all right, except possibly an experiment to measure neutrons speeding from the blast, according to Gerald Johnson, assistant for atomic energy to the secretary of defense.

Johnson said there might be damage to a special spinning wheel at the end of a pipe running through the tunnel into the blast chamber.

The venting or escape of radioactivity occurred slowly and the cloud of vapor drifted across the road in a long streamer moving slower than the cloud from an atmospheric test.

Johnson said no more gases were escaping from the tunnel through a vertical shaft at 6 p.m. (EST), but some was coming from vent holes intended to let some steam escape.

Just Speculation

The vent pipe, 22 inches wide, perhaps didn't collapse and the steam might have come through it, then up the shaft, but this was speculation, Johnson said.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said the AEC had been advised the radiation in the cloud was low-level. The spokesman said that in planning the shot consideration had been given to the possibility that some radiation might escape. The amount that did emerge through the tunnel shaft, he said, was much lower than had been anticipated.

No radiation, he said, emerged through the ground above the explosion chamber.

Dr. Edward Teller, flying in a helicopter when the blast went off, said the vapor started coming out a minute or so after the detonation.

"How much radiation is coming out, we don't know," he said.

"There apparently is not much pressure behind it," said the famed nuclear physicist, "It started to vent slowly, then the cloud started to decay."

The steam still rose an hour after the explosion, at 2 p.m. of the device equal in energy to 5,000 tons of TNT, or one-fourth the energy of the Hiroshima atom bomb.

An unofficial report said a helicopter pilot measured an intensity in the cloud of 10,000 Roentgens—which is extremely "hot."

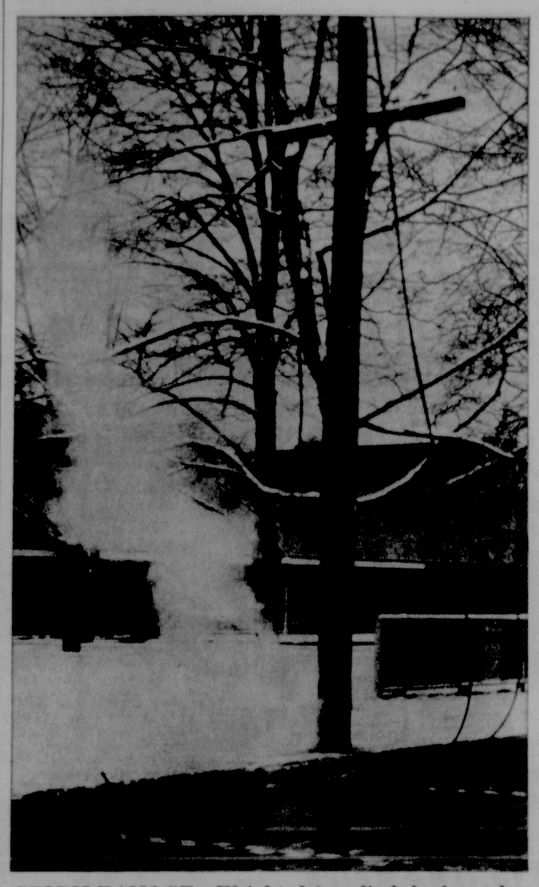

Intensity of radiation in the cloud would be expected to decline rapidly and disperse. At first, a dose of 1,000 Roentgens of total body radiation would be fatal to most humans.

Seismic experts said the shock waves from the blast had been heard loud and clear on instruments in Washington, D.C.

32 Die In Midwest As Snow And Cold Strike

STORM DAMAGE—Weighted tree limb broke under strain of ice and snow Sunday at 10:20 a.m. snapping Pennsylvania Power and Light Lines on North Courtland Street, East Stroudsburg. One way traffic prevailed until service was restored after 3 p.m.

Ice-Glazed Roads Cause Most Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Harsh weather left at least 32 persons dead in the Midwest and lingered over the northern Great Lakes, New England and the Rockies Sunday with snow, cold and freezing drizzle.

The arctic air dropped temperatures to 34 below zero in Butte, Mont., and 16 below, a record for the date, in Denver, Colo. The bitter cold extended eastward cross the plains states.

Most of the deaths were attributed to accidents caused by skidding automobiles on ice-glazed roadways.

Five Drown

A mother and four children drowned in southern Illinois Saturday night when their car skidded off a bridge approach and into a lake near Mount Vernon. The father, John D. Warren, 30, and another child escaped.

Deaths blamed on the storm included seven in Illinois; five in Iowa; four each in Ohio, Arkansas and Indiana; two each in Nebraska and South Dakota; and one each in Missouri, Wisconsin, Kansas, and Kentucky.

Eleven inches of snow piled up at Duluth, Minn., and more was falling. An additional four inches of snow was expected across the northern lakes region by Monday morning.

New England was expected to receive from three to six inches by Monday morning.

Snow continued in the northern Rockies. Leadville, Colo., received 8 inches and Denver and Trinidad, Colo., each measured 3 inches.

The subzero readings in the Rockies and Northern Plains included 19 below at Lewsiston, Mont.; 16 below at Cheyenne and Casper, Wyo.; 13 below at Helena, Mont., and 10 below at Goodland, Kan.

Moves Eastward

The cold edged eastward and the Weather Bureau predicted a cold wave with near zero temperatures by morning through much of the Midwest.

Much of the nation had unpleasant weather in some form. A small tornado smashed six homes near Brewton, Ala., injuring 12 persons. Mobile, Ala., reported 3.51 inches of rain in a six-hour period. Heavy rains extended into the Carolinas and Virginia.

Thundershowers broke out over eastern Texas and freezing drizzle fell in western Texas and Oklahoma. Showers fell in Arizona and Southern California.

Storm Drops 3 Inches On Pocono Area

THE second snow storm of the season to hit the Pocono Mountains area dumped three inches of snow before rising temperatures turned the storm to drizzle. The snow storm began early Saturday night.

Cinder crews turned out yesterday to cover hills which soon became treacherous for travel. During the day, snow plows were on duty clearing up what had become slush as light rain made roads slippery and walking precarious.

The storm was the mixture of moist warm air meeting cold surface air. As warm air dropped through layers of cold air, drizzle continued and fog moved in to make outlines fuzzy and cut driving speeds down for both road conditions and lack of visibility.

Flurries Expected

A high of 37 was recorded in Stroudsburg at 2:30 p.m. yesterday with a corresponding time in Mount Pocono showing a high of 34.

There is a promise of snow flurries today by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Avoca Airport. The forecast includes a drop in temperature to match the snow flurries.

No deaths were reported due to the conditions. Traffic did take one way route yesterday on North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg when a tree limb loaded by snow and ice collapsed under the weight about 10:30 a.m. and took a Pennsylvania Power and Light line down. Service was cut off in a great portion of town until after 3 p.m. when crews were able to restore the power.

Few accidents were reported by Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Police. However, they recommended caution in driving to take into consideration the driving hazards involved during storms which combine snow, drizzle and fog.

A 35 mile per hour speed limit was posted on the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike and cindering crews were working on the snow-covered highway.

The Pocono Storm was the result of moist warm air moving northeast over colder surface air. As the warm air gradually works its way down through the cold air, the snow changed to drizzle.

The current precipitation is the second measurable snow this season. Some one and one-half inches fell Nov. 20.

Crisis Grows In Dominican As Talks Fail

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The troubled Dominican Republic was plunged deep into crisis again Sunday. Negotiations between the government and the opposition were broken off and an opposition spokesman asserted: "We are on the edge of disaster."

The National Civic Union, largest of the opposition organizations and the only one negotiating with the government, announced it was withdrawing from the talks after President Joaquin Balaguer told a news conference the negotiations had reached a "definite impasse."

Balaguer said the negotiations, which have been on and off for a week, deadlocked on the issue of his resignation. He said government officials and the armed forces objected to an opposition demand that would have hm step down, to be replaced by an opposition choice.

Asserting he still considered the negotiations open, Balaguer said he didn't know how Dominicans would react to his announcement. But a member of the opposition declared: "The people will give their answer tomorrow. There will be reaction that eventually will take us all right into Fidelismo." That was a reference to Cuban Communist Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Balaguer said he is willing to resign in the interests of national unity. But he said he has never before offered to step down, as reported by the Civic Union.

Dr. Viriato A. Fiallo, president of the Civic Union, had asserted that unless Balaguer agreed to step aside at an agreed time the negotiations would be terminated and the opposition would "let take their natural course."

A crippling 12-day general strike that erupted into a violent censure of Balaguer was called off Saturday by the opposition when it appeared agreement was near.

At his news conference in the national palace, Balaguer said the government and opposition had reached "agreement in principle" on creation of a five- or seven-man provisional state council that would govern until a new constitution was promulgated and elections held.

Red Albania Splits With Soviets; Is Not Unexpected

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union has withdrawn its diplomats from Albania and the Albanian Embassy in Moscow announced Sunday relations were ruptured several days ago.

It was the most spectacular split in the ranks of world communism since Yugoslavia was expelled from the Cominform in 1948 for refusing to hew to Moscow's party line.

But the break had been expected ever since Premier Khrushchev, at the October Soviet party congress, denounced the Albanian leaders as Stalinist and accused them of trying to disrupt Communist unity.

"They've been throwing stones at each other for a long time," said a State Department spokesman in Washington. "But under their system this might mean a lot and it might not mean anything."

A new issue of Pro-Communist, the party's monthly bible, said "imperialists" were waiting to welcome Albania.

Other Eastern-bloc nations are expected to follow the Kremlin's lead, leaving Albania supported only by Communist China in an ideological feud that has blazed for more than a year.

The official Albanian agency ATA was the first to announce Sunday morning that Soviet diplomats had left Albania and the Albanian diplomats had been told to get out of Moscow.

Dispatches from Moscow did not say when the Albanians would leave. The Albanian ambassador went home several weeks ago, leaving the embassy under a charge d'affaire.

ATA said there had been an exchange of notes beginning Nov. 25, concluding with one dated Saturday announcing the withdrawal of the Soviet Embassy and commercial staff. ATA said this note repeated a demand for the Albanian personnel to quit Moscow, first made orally last month by a Soviet Foreign Ministry representative.

Denounces Chiefs

The agency carried a statement by the official Albanian Communist newspaper Zeri E Populit declaring the Soviet action "without precedent in the relations of Socialist countries" and denouncing the Soviet leadership generally and Khrushchev personally.

By diplomatic accounts, the trouble between Albania and the Soviet Union exploded in an angry exchange between Khrushchev and Albanian Communist chief Enver Hoxha at the Moscow conference of world Communist leaders in November 1960.

Hoxha was said to have sided with Red China's view that war with capitalism is inevitable, and called Khrushchev a traitor to Communist doctrine. At this, Khrushchev is supposed to have shouted: "Comrade Hoxha, you have poured a bucket of dung on me and you will have to wash it off."

Hoxha hurriedly left Moscow. Albania boycotted this fall's Soviet Communist party congress, at which Khrushchev and others accused the Albanian leadership of Stalinism and Stalin-style terror.

Last March, Albania arrested and executed two officials of its Foreign Ministry, charging them with spying for the Soviet Union. Moscow reduced its diplomatic staff in Tirana. The Russians who remained were kept under Albanian secret police surveillance.

Highest Prizes In History

Three Americans Win Nobel Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The venerable Nobel Foundation celebrated its 60th anniversary Sunday by distributing the largest prizes in its history to four scientists—three of them Americans—and a Yugoslav writer.

The total of more than $193,000 —$20,000 more than last year — was divided into four prizes of $48,300 each in the fields of physics, chemistry, medicine and literature. The physics prize was shared by an American and a young German.

An hour earlier, the Nobel Peace prizes for 1960 and 1961 were awarded in Oslo to Albert John Luthuli, South African Negro leader, and the estate of the late U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. These prizes also were worth $48,300 each.

Blaring Fanfare

Signaled by a blaring fanfare in Stockholm's red plush Concert Hall, the five approached Sweden's King Gustaf Adolf, who handed them the awards, warmly shook hands and chatted briefly with each.

Prof. Ivar Waller of the Royal Swedish Academy of Science presented the two physics winners, Dr. Robert Hofstadter of Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., and Dr. Rudolf Moessbauer of Munich, Germany, now at the California Institute of Technology.

Waller spoke of Hofstadter's pioneering studies in the structure of the atom and Moessbauer's invention of a "radiation clock" which has given his name to a special effect in physics.

Prof. Karl Myrbeck presented the chemistry prize winner, Dr. Melvin Calvin of the University of California, Berkeley. The Swedish scientist said Calvin with his research into carbon dioxide assimilation in plants had solved the riddle of how plants are nourished.

Next to be presented was Dr. Georg von Bekesy of Harvard University, who received the prize in medicine. He was praised for his research into the science of hearing that has aided thousands of deaf persons.

By tradition, the literary prize laureate was presented last—Dr. Ivo Andric of Yugoslavia. He was introduced by Dr. Anders Oesterling of the Swedish Literary Academy, who said Andric had chronicled the history of his country with epic force.

In a speech opening the prize ceremonies, Dr. Arne Tiselius, new president of the Nobel Foundation, called for an international moral code to make sure that the fruits of science are not misused.

The Nobel prizes come from the estate of Alfred Nobel, the dynamite king, who died in 1896. The first prizes were awarded five years later and amounted to $29,110 each.

Paper Strike In Milwaukee Almost Over

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The Milwaukee Journal mail room employes, who have been on strike for 26 days, have reached a tentative agreement with the paper for settlement of the dispute, a federal mediator said Sunday night.

Joseph Piconke of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service announced the tentative agreement at the end of a 5-hour and 45-minute negotiating session which began at 1 p.m.

Details of the settlement, Piconke said, would be withheld until ratification by members of the Mailers Union, affiliated with Local 23 of the International Typographical Union. The Journal's 57 mailers went on strike Nov. 15. The afternoon Journal remained in operation, publishing a 268-page Sunday edition.

Piconke said that pickets would be withdrawn from the Journal plant at 8 a.m. Monday.

Another negotiation session was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Monday to resolve issues still pending with the Milwaukee Sentinel, Piconke said. The Mailers also voted to strike the morning Sentinel but did not post pickets. The Journal and Sentinel negotiate jointly with the Mailers.

The major issue in the dispute was the union's request for a so-called status quo clause in a new contract to replace one which expired last spring. The clause contract to replace one which expired last spring. The clause would prevent changes in work methods or machinery until issues had been arbitrated.

Highway Dept. Approves New Speed Zone At 'Gap

THE Department of Highways has approved the Delaware Water Gap's request for posting the built-up area along U.S. Route 611 in the borough as a restricted speed zone. The speed zone will be reduced to 35 MPH.

The department's okay came shortly after the borough Chamber of Commerce requested such action be taken in the local traffic situation. The group said the present speed zone endangered users of the highway and particularly school children entering and leaving buses.

Chamber secretary Stephen R. Matos noted in the communication that a 6-year-old girl had been seriously injured while attempting to board a school bus along a built-up section of the highway on Oct. 11.

Other Approvals

The department has also granted approval for a reduced speed zone on Alternate Route 611 from Point of the Gap to a point in the center of town where borough limit becomes effective.

The other reduced speed zone is along a stretch of Route 611 at the foot of Foxtown Hill in the borough.

The Borough Council will take steps to act on the approval. Members of the chamber will request the council to assign the highest priority to erect the speed zone signs.

The State Police have also informed the chamber that they will cooperate in the matter. The chamber requested strict enforcement of the traffic regulations with particular emphasis on the problems of speeding and passing of school buses that are loading and unloading passengers on the highway.

Both Lt. Siptroth and Sgt. Joseph DePietro of the State Police informed the group that the State Police would be particularly observant of these violations and would cooperate in this campaign to safeguard lives in the area.

Foggy Weather Forces Kennedy To Use Highway

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP) — Forced to the highway by foggy weather, President Kennedy drove here Sunday for an overnight stay at his rented estate in the Virginia hunt country.

He was to have flown the 45 miles to Glen Ora by helicopter but bad weather barred the flight. He reached the secluded estate about noon after an hour's drive from the White House.

The President joined the First Lady and their two children. They came up Friday. Kennedy is to return to Washington Monday morning.

Shortly after his arrival, the President and Mrs Kennedy drove into Middleburg to attend noon Mass at the town's community center.

The pastor, the Rev. Albert F. Pereira, invited the worshippers to renew their Legion of Decency pledge. Father Pereira said this is the only way to influence the movie industry to improve the quality of films.

The Legion of Decency pledge condemns indecent and immoral pictures and those which glorify crime or criminals.

Claims White Mercenaries Are Behind Katanga Crisis

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo's U.N. commander asserted Sunday resistance in war-torn Katanga no longer is directed by President Moise Tshombe but by white mercenaries acting for financial interests in the mineral-rich province.

Irish Gen. Sean McKeon said overtures to end the fighting have been made by Tshombe representatives, but that they have not been presented formally to U.N. officials. He declined to give any details.

"There are indications that Tshombe realizes the hopelessness of his position," McKeown told reporters after a flying visit to Elisabethville, where the U.N.-Katanga fighting was in its sixth day.

Lost Control

"Tshombe and his ministers have lost control of the fighting," said McKeown. "It now is being conducted by the mercenaries. We don't think Tshombe could stop it now even if he wanted to."

U.N. authorities reported that U.N. jets firing cannons and rockets attacked the Katanga police camp in Elisabethville in an attempt to knock out a key mortar battery. Mortar fire from Camp Massart had prevented U.N. Swedish and Irish troop advances on a strategic underpass in the area.

Early reports gave no word on the results of the air strike or any indication of casualties.

McKeown called the Katanga resistance highly organized and said the mercenaries were conducting a "dirty war" against U.N. forces. But he expressed confidence the U.N. troops would need only a few more days to restore order to the province.

He estimated over-all casualties in the Elisabethville fighting at between 50 and 60. Three U.N. soldiers have been killed, he said, including a Swedish soldier shot Saturday from ambush.

Two Arrested In NATO Leaks

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—A West German army colonel and a highly placed official have been arrested on suspicion of giving NATO defense secrets to a foreign power, the West German federal prosecutor's office said Sunday.

A spokesman said the colonel was stationed in the West German capital of Bonn until his arrest. The civilian, termed an important official of the Lower Saxony state government, had been closely associated with a German military installation near the city of Hanover, the spokesman said.

Girl Student Dies In Blaze

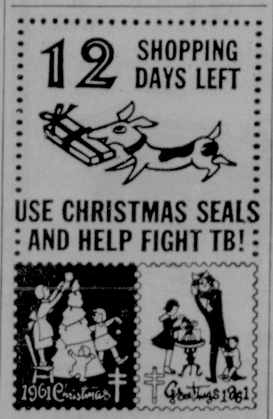

LOWELL, Mass. (AP)—Flames took the life early Sunday of a pretty, 18-year-old student trapped in a second-floor room of a blazing dormitory at Rogers Hall, a fashionable girls' school.

School officials identified the victim as Claire Langford of Averill Park, N.Y., about 12 miles east of Albany.

Twenty-one other occupants of the building, known as Shedd Dormitory, escaped unharmed.

Fire officials speculated that electrical Christmas decorations may have caused the fire.

The blaze broke out on the first floor of the 2½-story wooden structure and swiftly spread up three stair wells.

THE Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society last night reported these results in its annual Christmas Seal sale compared to a year ago:

Eichmann To Receive Verdict Today

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann waited alone in his cell Sunday for his Israeli judges to pass judgment on him.

The former Gestapo colonel, charged with carrying out Adolf Hitler's plot to exterminate Europe's Jewry during World War II, goes before the three-judge tribunal Monday morning to hear the verdict.

Presiding Judge Moshe Landau will open the final phase of Eichmann's trial by reading a judgment drawn up over the past three months. It is reported to cover 300 pages and its reading is expected to consume at least three days. Landau's colleagues on the bench —Judge Ishak Raveh and Judge Benyamin Halevy—will alternate with him in the reading of the judgment.

Eichmann, 55, is being judged on 15 counts of an indictment specifically charging him with criminal complicity in the Nazi campaign to destroy the Jews. He faces the death penalty. If he receives the maximum penalty, his West German attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, can appeal to the State Supreme Court. If the high court rejects the appeal, Eichmann can ask for clemency from President Izhak Ben-Zvi.

Throughout his trial, from April 11 to Aug. 14, Eichmann maintained a stolid impassivity which cracked only once. At the beginning of his cross-examination by prosecutor Gideon Hausner in July, the former chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section pleaded for rest. It seemd for a moment he was near collapse. But he reappeared on the stand after a four-hour nap and never wavered again.

Amateurs' Satelite Will Soon Hitch Ride On A Discoverer

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A satellite built entirely by amateurs—with a message private citizens all over the world can hear—is scheduled to hitch a ride into space soon aboard an Air Force Discoverer rocket.

The message is "Hi"—four dots and two dots in international Morse code.

The world's 300,000 radio "hams," at least 12,000 of them behind the iron curtain, will be given advance notice when to start listening for Oscar (Orbiting Satellite Carrying Amateur Radio).

"There has been no word on whether Russia will permit its hams to help track Oscar," says amateur radio operator M. C. Towns of Sunnyvale, Calif., "but they have all been invited to do so."

Oscar will broadcast on the international amateur frequency of 145 megacycles and the Soviet Union will either have to jam the frequency or accept the possibility its hams will take part in an American space project.

Oscar, a 10-pound transmitter assembled in their spare time by space engineers who are also hams, will take the place of ballast in the tail section of Discoverer 36's orbital second stage.

For the next 30 days—or as long as its batteries last—hams all over the world will record Oscar's signal and radio its progress to officials of the American Radio Relay League.

Mack Strike Accord Made

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators reached a tentative agreement Sunday in a 44-day strike of 4,000 Mack Truck workers in three states.

Frank H. Brown, of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, announced the pact which must be ratified by members of the seven striking locals.

All of the workers on strike are being instructed to return to work Monday, he said.

Saturday: Jericho young people will meet at 8 p.m. at the church. The Hemlock Grove chapel choir will practice at 2 p.m. at the church. The Moravian confirmation class will meet at 10 a.m. at the church.

Okays Sales Temporarily

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—The Friedman supermarket in the nearby Bon Aire shopping center was open for business Sunday with court permission pending further developments in a legal battle over a new state law limiting Sunday food sales.

Three store officials recently were fined on charges of violating the law by operating the store on Sunday, Nov. 26.

Judge Clyde S. Shumaker of Butler County heard the appeal of the officials last week and ruled Saturday that the Bon Aire store may remain open on Sundays until he can hand down a decision in the case. The other two markets, he said, must remain closed on Sunday.

The new law bans Sunday food sales by stores with 10 or more employes.

The store's counsel claims the law is unconstitutional on grounds that it denies equal protection under the law, contradicts legislation dealing with regulation of trade and is not clear as to whether "10 employes" means 10 on Sundays, 10 on the weekly payroll or 10 on the monthly payroll.

Consumer Prices In State Soar To New Record High

CONSUMER prices in Pennsylvania rose 0.1 per cent in the third quarter of 1961 to a new high of 127.8 per cent of the 1947-49 levels, State Secretary of Labor and Industry A. Allen Sulcowe said yesterday.

The increase, however, was but half that of the national increase for the same period, which was 0.2 per cent, or 128.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base period, also a new high.

Only Food Lower

The quarterly increase was attributed mainly to higher prices for apparel and solid and liquid fuels, Dr. Anthony J. Bryski, director of the Department's Bureau of Research and Statistics, reported to Secretary Sulcowe. But all other consumer products contributed to the rising trend except food, which recorded a seasonal price decline.

State prices are also higher in October than they were a year ago, but again, not so much as the national rise The State increase since last October was 0.8 per cent, the national increase 0.9 per cent.

Food prices declined 0.9 per cent during the third quarter, during which seasonal drops in fresh fruits and vegetables more than cancelled out increases in fresh meats.

Fuels Hike Housing

Housing rose 0.2 per cent during the quarter, with a similar national increase. Solid and liquid fuels were largely responsible for this increase as anthracite prices advanced seasonally. But drapery fabrics, electric refrigerators, axminster rugs, paper napkins and toilet tissues and laundry soaps and detergents were also higher.

Apparel was up 2.3 per cent during the quarter, a rate of increase not unusual this time of year, but substantially greater than the 1.4 per cent rise nationally. Men's topcoats and wool slacks, and women's wool coats and skirts sparked the increase.

Transportation was up 0.7 per cent, just about half the national increase.

Medical care in the State continued its upward trend with 0.2 per cent increase in the quarter to a new high of 169.6 of the 1947-49 base period.

Demos Show Surplus; GOP Almost Bare

HARRISBURG (AP—Pennsylvania Democrats will wind up the year with nearly a half million dollar surplus in their campaign war chest while the Republican cupboard is practically bare, official reports indicated Friday.

In an accounting filed with the State Elections Bureau, the Democratic State Finance Committee showed 1961 campaign income of $945,218 and expenditures of $515,662.

This leaves the Democrats a hefty balance of $434,554, even before the 1962 gubernatorial and senatorial elections.

Republicans said they spent most of what they took in for the 1961 off-year election campaign. The Republican State Finance Committee reported income of $373,697 and expenditures of $348,276, leaving a balance of $25,421.

But the regular GOP State Committee ran up a deficit of $5,774.

The regular Democratic State Committee reported receipts of $300,359 and expenditures of $298,396.

The respective finance committees are responsible for raising the bulk of funds for both parties. They then make payments to the regular state committees for campaign expenses and contribute to national party expenses.

Among the more prominent Democratic donors were Gov. Lawrence who gave $1,000 and Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, $500.

Major Republican contributors were three members of the Mellon family of Pittsburgh, $3,000 each; Rep. William W. Scranton and his wife, $3,000 each, and Philip T. Sharples, finance chairman, $4,000.

A Fitting Pause

With Christmas just two weeks away, people are scampering all about with last-minute preparations. There are still gifts to be bought and wrapped, late greeting cards to send off, plans for the festive day to be completed, and a host of other things to occupy the minds of people in all walks of life.

In the hustle and bustle of these last minute preparations, we often lose sight of the real meaning of the season; we seem to lay aside the golden theme of "Peace on earth to men of good will." Yet it is the only true meaning of all of the preparations.

The Monroe County Council of Church Women has come up with an excellent idea to keep as mindful of the meaning of Christmas during these busy times. Beginning this morning at eleven o'clock and continuing during each noon hour during the week, the Presbyterian Church in Stroudsburg and the Methodist Church in East Stroudsburg will open their doors for quiet, individual visitation.

The time has been picked so that shoppers can pause in their mad rush for a few moments of meditation. It is also a convenient time for business people to take a few moments of their lunch time and visit in either one of the churches.

It would be well for each and every resident to take advantage of the opportunity to meditate on the real meaning of the season and to say a few prayers for "peace on earth." Such imprecations were never more needed in the world as they are today. Each day's news carries new threats for the destruction of mankind, and nation after nation seems to be heading for the abyss of nuclear chaos.

The church doors will be open during these special times to receive those who want to give the greatest gift of all — peace — to their loved ones at Christmastime. It only takes a moment or two. Why not do it?

Definitions And Reversals

Picketing may have gotten its start back in the Stone Age when some fellow who was hired to make a flint ax, feeling underpaid and aggrieved, ran up and down in front of his employer's cave waving a club and telling anyone who would listen what a cheapskate his boss was. Since then picketing has become more complex, though no less crudely intimidating, until today it is a very complex form of protest indeed.

Take, for example, two recent National Labor Relations Board rulings. In both instances the unions already were barred for a year by previous NLRB rulings from picketing with the purpose of supporting organizing efforts.

In one, the union had decided to continue picketing anyway, saying it was doing so for informational purposes. The NLRB says it was not, defining the picketing as organizational and hence illegal. In the other, the picketing union said it was only publicizing alleged unfair labor practices by the employer. But the employer complained the pickets actually were renewing an organizing drive. The NLRB defines this picketing as being informational and, therefore, legal.

Now as if this apparent inconsistency on definitions were not enough to complicate things, to it is being added the uncertainty of reversals. The NLRB, with its first Democratic majority in eight years, is upsetting rules laid down by the pre-Kennedy Administration board member lineup. For instance, the board has overturned a ruling made only last February which held that a union's seven-month picketing of an employer for organizing purposes was illegal. Erasing the February finding, today's board defines the picketing as being just a protest against substandard pay, and thus legal.

To the employer trying to run a business as as well as to the union member, all these unpredictable changes in interpretations and rules constitute a distracting, and often costly, war of nerves. Government by caprice, of which the NLRB's behavior offers a clear example, operates to the best interests of nobody. For it means that the fellow waving a club may have been shooed away from the front door yesterday by a definition, but tomorrow a reversal may send him and his club right back to the same old stand.

Shot And Shell!

Opening an address at Wilson College, Clare Boothe Luce said:

"Today the two strongest nations in the world are drawn up in full battle array, facing one another across half the world. Their bombs testing in air, their rockets' red glare, seem proof to the world that war may be near."

It is not only the Great Powers that shoot at each other, but the little, new states, even parts of states like Katanga, fight for what they believe is freedom. The world is at war not only one country with another but each country within itself, Mrs. Luce states the American Case brilliantly:

"Morality in respect of force consisted in not striking the first blow. Conversely, any nation who struck the first military blow against America, ipso facto established its own immorality.

"Consequently, the only moral caus bellum, or cause of war which the Public Will has fully supported is the initiation of war on the United States. For almost a century, statesmanship has been constrained, diplomacy has been confined, and patriotism itself has been defined, by the moral necessity of waiting for Pearl Harbors."

But we are no longer living in a moral world. Perhaps the most significant achievement of the middle of the 20th Century was the overthrow of morality, the renunciation Moral Law and the acceptance again of the rule of the jungle, namely, that he is right who has the will to declare himself to be right and to impose that will upon the Earth. Soveit Russia gathers the forces of strength and power from its doctrine of historic inevitability.

Against that, the President has to establish a renewed moral concept among the American people. Already he has spoken of physical fitness, but to be truly effective, he must become a moral leader. He must be a high priest of principle. He must be one who not only serves but who leads.

Clare Luce put it this way:

"Let me give you an elegant historical example of wise American statesmanship: the proclamation of the Monroe Doctrime, on December 2nd, 1823. This was a clearly stated political and diplomatic warning to all the nations of the world that the United States would rapidly raise armies to fight any nation which, for any reason good or bad, sought any conquest in this hemisphere. We said, in effect, that we would not wait until a conflict situation, involving a European power, developed in South Amercia to determine whether our interests were affected. And we certainly would not wait until we ourselves were hit. We would, on the contary, act at the first sign of European aggression in our hemisphere."

This is precisely what our President faces. Dares he to say that no Communist state will be established on the American continent and that if any European or Asiatic power attempts to establish such a state, we will fight?

The leader among us who will have the courage to meet this issue straight-forward and without fear will not only be respected but loved by our people who hate war but do not fear death.

Again Mrs. Luce warns the enemy:

"Our attitude in 1945 that it was immoral to alert the Russians to the fact that we might strike first unless a real peace could be negotiated, our long refusal even to warn an avowed enemy, an enemy whose intention to bury us and the free world had been clear from the beginning, had paralyzed our diplomacy, saw 600 millions of peoples dragged into slavery behind the Iron Curtain, intensified the cold war throughout the tries, brought Russian power to our very own shores in Cuba, left us inert and humiliated before Castro—and now has at long last carried the whole suffering world to Armageddon."

In a word, if there must be a challenge, let us make the challenge fearlessly and positively. We cannot wait to be challenged because we cannot afford always to respond to another's initiative. We have to move forward on our own, strong and sure and utterly fearless.

It is interesting that it should be a woman who speaks out boldly in these days when men count their pennies and the consequences of conduct. Women are more courageous when they face realistic dangers and this nation has never before encountered a danger as great and as threatening as that which we face today—a danger not only to our political existence but to our civilization.

The Pennsylvania Story

Mingles Among Peons

Harrisburg—In retrospect:

The big man from the city came down from his granite tower habitat the other day.

Close to the soil—as close as a set of four rubbertired wheels would permit — he mingled among the "upstate" peons.

It was a lofty occasion. The big city man in his impeccable cloak of politico aura took it upon himself to twit newsmen in a side-bar lecture for misrepresenting him.

In retrospect that is the picture now abuilding among many around Capitol Hill to the "coming" last week of Philadelphia Democratic leader William J. Green to this lowly village of Harrisburg along the banks of the Susqeuhanna.

The occasion for Mr. Green to leave his beloved Philadelphian ramparts was of course the meeting called by Democratic State Chairman Otis V. Morse of top Democratic leaders to discuss what should be done about congressional reapportionment for Pennsylvania.

(There are those who felt the meeting should have been held in Philadelphia. There are those who feel Philadelphia should be the site of the State Capital. There are those who seem to think it is).

Mr. Green, it will be recalled, is the gent who laughingly and unlaughingly has been called the "king-maker" — the distinction having been gained when his Philadelphia machine turned in such an overwhelming vote for President Kennedy that it floundered Pennsylvania's upstate vote and sent the Keystone State into the Democratic column.

Mr. Green has been reported variously as being adamant that none of the three congressional seats to be lost from Pennsylvania shall come from his Philadelphia; that the current six seats shall remain therein even though it means "annexing" some outlying areas to make up the population count necessary to meet congressional district minimums.

It was on this point that Mr. Green lectured newsmen on "misrepresenting his stand on redistricting" — but when questioned on dropping his insistence for retention of the six Philadelphia congressional seats (all Democratic), he allowed as how: "We are not here to reapportion Philadelphia. We are here to reapportion the state. Now everybody understands that, don't they?"

Why not reapportion Philadelphia, Mr. Green? Your population down there now only entitles you to five—not six—seats?

In further retrospect:

This columnist does hope that Mr. Green becomes more familiar with the feudal areas outside Philadelphia—the "downtrodden, back-woodsy" upstate areas where most of us in Pennsylvania live.

We think the good folks up Punxsutawney-way would feel much better if the congressman from Philadelphia would study his Pennsylvania map just a little more closely and not make such remarks as he did at the meeting here, to wit:

"I could be agreeable to dropping a seat in Allegheny County or Punxsutawney or any other county."

Really Mr. Green — Punxsutawney isn't a Pennsylvania county. It's a borough. It's population (1960 census) is 8805 (plus the notorious Punxsutawney groundhog, of course). Punxsutawney, Mr. Green, is located in Jefferson County.

This should be important, Mr. Green. The folks in Punxsutawney vote too—just like they do in great big Philadelphia, but they vote their own independent way, Mr. Green—not like the firm Philadelphia machine!

And Mr. Green—you add together a lot of little Punxsutawneys in Pennsylvania's upstate areas, and you could very well be snowed under down there in great big kingmaking Philadelphia!

Come to think of it, there's a gubernatorial-legislative-congressional election next year in Pennsylvania!

Due to the United States entering World War II the Stroudsburg Council deferred action on purchasing sewerage material for the south side of the borough.

Three cars driven by Stroudsburg people crashed on Washington St., East Stroudsburg. Chief of Police Arthur Swink said the cause of the accident was slippery roads.

With Walter Winchell On Broadway

The columnists were the subject for an editorial in a recent Forbes Magazine. . . Editor Malcolm S. Forbes noted that readers in New York and Washington complained about columnists invading everyone's privacy "but that both groups were avid readers of the columnists in their particular areas of interest."

Mr. Forbes wondered if critics of columnists ever stop to think "what a dreary, uninforming mishmash most newspapers would be if it were not for the columnists."

He added that with few exceptions the editorial pages contain the "most innocuous pap imaginable". . . He observed that columnists now are the only source of the thunder that in yesteryear made a Hearst, a Greeley and a Pullitzer heard beyond his local circulation area.

Mr. Forbes, the darling, said that the columnists he had in mind are not so much the "ponderous pontificators" who daily provide guide lines for the proper solution of all national and inter-national problems. "I well remember as a youngster," Forbes continued, "the tut-tutting and huff-huffing with which Walter Winchell's early columns were greeted. Yet, thank goodness, he opened a path to a type of writing that today provides 99% of our daily press with its salt and pepper, as well as, often, more actual news than is contained on the front page."

Mr. F., you've just made critics of columnists livid. Kiss me.

From an editorial page: "We do think that a good newspaper should be thoughtful, informative and entertaining, with as little canned stuff as possible — or, if it's syndicated, then it should be the writing of thoughtful columnists with an impact on the national thinking."

What is a thoughtful columnist? Who determines what is thoughtful? All too often thoughtful becomes a synonym for dull.

N.Y. Hearld Tribune publisher John Hay Whitney's observation: "New is not simply what happens. It is what newsmen find out and what we read with understanding. The world has never been so well reported, nor, at the same time, seemed so confusing."

A newspaper's capacity for discovery must be embellished with a gift for interpretation. The spotlight must function as an X-ray.

James Hoffa's challenge to a newspaperman: "What is your opinion of the ethics of newspapermen? Will you give that?"

Long ago we called unethical newspapermen Presstitutes.

A. J. Liebling, a critic of his colleagues, would have you believe: "No newspaper in the nation, apparently has had a kind word for the working man since 1936. On this point the press is not lopsided but unilateral, monolithic, solidary and unanimous."

Newspapermen are working men and most newspapers are sympathetic to labor. But labor should not be confused with Irresponsible labor unions that have more power than responsibility and are more concerned with their private interests than the public welfare.

The Allen-Scott Report

Budget Upcoming

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Kennedy's budget for the coming fiscal year will be between $92 and $93 billion.

This stupendous total will set a number of records. It will be the largest peace-time budget; the third highest in the country's history; some $3 billion more than Congress voted for the current fiscal year; and $10.5 billion greater than for 1960, President Eisenhower's last year in office.

This year's budget is $88.985 billion. Greatest U.S. budget was $98.416 billion in 1945, final year of World War II; second largest was $95 billion in 1944.

Most of next year's increases will be for defense and space.

A $50 billion ceiling for military expenditures has been tentatively set by the President for the fiscal year starting July 1. That is approximately $3 billion more than this year's $46.85 billion.

In the Cabinet deliberations on the budget, the President has laid down the firm edict that it must not exceed federal revenues — estimated by Treasury Secretary Dillon at around $92 billion. This year's revenues are calculated at $82.1 billion—with a resulting projected deficit of $6.9 billion.

"We promised a balanced budget in 1963," the President said, "and barring an unforseen emergency, we are going to make good on that."

His method to accomplish it is to hold down domestic expenditures.

The President has personally ordered department and agency heads to clamp a tight lid on such spending.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and Veterans Administrator John Gleason, Jr., particularly were directed to cut their budgets. Gleason was told to reduce his below the $5.444 billion for this year; and Freeman his below the $4.783 billion his department is spending this year.

The President also has asked the Atomic Energy Commission to "reconsider" a request $200 million increase over its current $2.684 billion budget.

AEC Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg is seeking the additional money on the ground it is necessary for a number of urgent purposes — nuclear weapons development and tests, particularly in space, two highly classified missile projects, and the purchase of uranium concentrates.

This issue is still unresolved. It is being closely watched by the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, headed by Representative Chet Holifield, D, Calif., who favors Seaborg's proposals.

On a number of occasions, the committee has voted more money than recommended by the White House.

The difficult problem confronting the President in limiting domestic outlays is further graphically illustrated by the large, inescapable increase in interest payment on the huge national debt next year.

That interest will jump approximately $500 million—from $8.9 billion to $9.4 billion.

This added obligation is mandatory. It can't be touched.

Under Scrutiny—A close eye is being kept on Eduardo Arosamena, 40-year-old brother of Ecuador's 42-year-old new left-wing President.

Eduardo, named by his brother, Dr. Carlos Julio Arosamena, as Minister-Counselor of their country's Washington embassy, has been a frequent visitor to the Soviet embassy. He is known to be on warm terms with its top officials.

Carlos Arosamena became President of Ecuador last month after violent outbreaks forced the resignation of President Jose Velasco Iberrs, who left the country. Last June, Arosamena visited Russia and Red China. Immediately after taking office, he reversed Iberra's announced intention to break diplomatic relations with Cuba's Communist dictator Fidel Castro.

Authoritative sources attribute this action by Arosamena to his brother Eduardo.

The Arosamena regime is seeking $100 million in grants and loans under President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress. Galo Plaza Lasso, a former Ecuador president who is known here, was given the job of wangling these funds.

So far he is still negotiating—and Eduartio is being closely watched.

A revealing memorandum on the background of the Arosamenas is in the hands of members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The detailed document is sharply critical of both of them. Among its highlights are the following:

Carlos Arosamena was expelled from the U.S., when he was Counselor of the Ecuadorian embassy, "due to repeated scandals and public disorders while intoxicated, which ended in his being held for 24 hours by the Washington police, in spite of his diplomatic status. The Ecuadorian Charge d'Affairs, later Ambassador Neptali' Ponce, had to intervene many times."

As Vice President, Arosamena and his supporters, upon becoming aware of President Iberra's plan to break relations with Castro, "precipitated the coup d'etat which they had been planning with the country's leftist elements, especially pro-Castro students. This explains the student uprisings and subversive activities which brought about the split in the army and the overthrow of the Iberra government."

Since taking office, Arosamena has modified the Ecuadorian constitution to enable him to put into effect "measures adopted by Castro in the initial phases of his regime. Under these modifications of the constitution, Arosamena is now in a position to employ terror to intimidate the opposition and the military forces, confiscate property of those classed as enemies of the government, and to impose political dictatorship."

Me, Too—Since the announcement of President Kennedy's plans to make a series of visits to Latin American countries, starting this week, Cuba's bulky dictator Castro has put out feelers for invitations for similar trips. Mexico, Ecuador, Brazil and Argentian has been sounded out on that . . . Guatemala's former leftist President Arbenz is delivering a series of lectures in Havana on "The Cuban Revolution Vis-à-Vis Latin American Countries." The pro-Communist talks are under the auspices of the Castro regime.

Inside You And Yours

TB—People, Birds, Seals

"How can you catch tuberculosis when you drink only pasteurized milk?" asks a British Columbia reader.

You simply catch the germs from other people—and sometimes birds. You can't pasteurize people and birds!

Tuberculosis travels like wintry colds. Someone coughs, you breathe in and the germs whisk down.

They gain a foothold in the lower part of your lungs. Inflammation rages, glands swell, but you don't feel sick. Not unless you're weak, worn-out and have to battle a whopping infection.

This tuberculosis often strikes children — passing invisible and unnoticed. Its mild symptoms may be mistaken for a winter virus. Recovery is usually rapid, but not before TB germs ooze into the circulation.

Uphill Fight

Silently, they settle everywhere — including the upper part of the lungs. Here, an uphill fight against gravity slows circulation and weakens your defenses.

Years later, a fresh dose of germs or crumbling resistance can trigger this old spot. The tiny nubbin explodes into a giant abscess full of soft, cheese-like infection.

You hack and honk and bark and gag to bring up this material. Fever soaks your bedclothes.

Weak and worn-out, you waste away. That half-empty abscess turns into a growing cavity.

Rest, nourishing foods and extra vitamins help turn the tide. So do special antibiotic germ-killers. Air injections around the lungs press cavity walls together to speed healing, and the surgeon can cut out most infections that won't heal.

Early Diagnosis

Routine patch tests and chest X-rays help uncover TB early —when it's easier to control. Supported by Christmas seals, this unending search continues.

Meanwhile, Christmas seal-supported research is hunting for new tuberculosis germ-killers. More and more these germs are growing immune to today's miracle drugs.

With magic stamps to help stamp out TB, "impossible" cures become routine.

Who knows? Maybe you can pasteurize birdes and people.

Veteran's Guide

Q — Do servicewomen receive the same benefits as servicemen after they are discharged and become veterans?

A—Yes.

Q—When a veteran believes he holds re-employment rights in a Federal agency, but the agency refuses to re-employ him, to whom does he appeal his case?

A—In the case of a field service position, appeal should be made to the Civil Service Regional Office having jurisdiction over the area; in case of a departmental service job or central office position, appeal should be made to the Central Office of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Protectors Report Deer Kill As Light

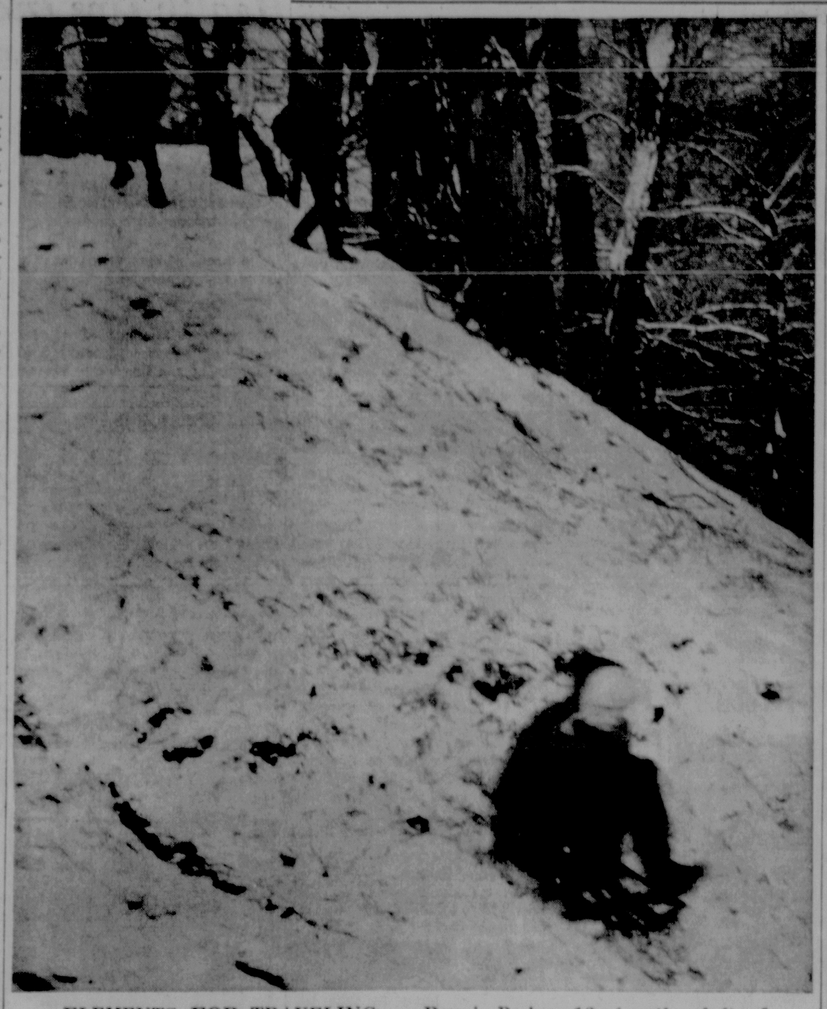

MRS. Forest Evans, of Cresco, shot a five point, 110 pound buck Saturday at 3:30 p.m. near "Evans' Retreat."

She was hunting in the woods alone at the time and killed the buck with one shot.

Hunting in the west end of the county was heavy, Game Protector John Doebling said last night. He added that the kill report was light.

Game Protector John Spencer said there were large numbers of hunters in his area but they were "spotted." His statement on kill reports was the same as Doebling's.

Local Aerie Supports Drive To Preserve The Bald Eagle

STROUDSBURG Eagles, Aerie 1106, has recently received letters from Senators Hugh Scott and Joseph S. Clark, Harold Edinger said last night.

The letters state that the two senators will support S. J. Resolution 105, a plan to preserve the Bald Eagle, our national emblem.

The local aerie voted recently to support the National Audubon Society's bald eagle research project to determine reasons for the decline in numbers of the bird.

"Keep 'em flying" will be the slogan for the Audubon-Eagle nation-wide campaign to save the American bald eagle from extinction. Through the program, the Eagles will share in the financing of a five-year study of bald eagles habitat undertaken by the Audobon Society.

The Eagles will also help inform the public of the plight of the bald and golden eagles in America and Canada. They will also support enactment of legislation to protect the eagles from hunters.

According to Carl W. Buchheister, president of the Audobon Society, two suggested causes of eagle decline—human disturbance of nests and pesticides poisoning — will be given special attention by teams of biological investigators.

After hatching, young eagles stay on the nest for three months, hence the big birds are subject to disturbance by unthinking people. For the first three years of their flying life, young bald eagles are dark brown all over and easily confused with other large dark birds such as buzzards or some of the larger hawks.

For this reason, though protected by law, many young eagles are shot by people who do not recognize them as such.

In commending the Bald Eagle project, President J. F. Kennedy said, "The founding fathers made an appropriate choice when they selected the Bald Eagle as the emblem of our nation. The fierce beauty and proud independence of this great bird aptly symbolize the strength and freedom of America. But as latter day citizens we shall have failed a trust if we permit the Eagle to disappear. . . I commend the Bald Eagle project undertaken by the National Audubon Society and its associates."

The Eagles, established in 1898, formerly was known as the Order of Good Things. Early in its history, the group adopted the American bald eagle as its emblem and became the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

'Toys For Tots' Collection Helps Santa Claus In Area

MORE than 4,000 toys have been collected in the area in the 1961 'Toys For Tots' drive by Monroe County members of the Third Motor Transport Battalion, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, Wyoming, Pennsylvania.

Recently the local drive was given an added boost when a Christmas tree was erected in the lobby of Wyckoff's department store in Stroudsburg.

More than 100 toys were collected there in two days. Some of the toys were wrapped and labeled "Boy, age 1-5" or Girl, age 4-7."

S/Sgt. James Shafer, non-commissioned officer in charge of the drive in Monroe County, said, "When the toy is wrapped and labeled as the people in the store have been doing they are helping Santa Claus in two days.

"First, wrapping of the gifts by the Salvation Army is time taking, and second, it is easier to sort the toys according to the request or selection of the people making up the list of items to be distributed to the needy," he continued.

The people in the area who would like to donate a toy or toys and do not have any means of transporting them to any of the collection points, may call any of the following numbers:

The American Legion, East Stroudsburg, HA 1-8170; Cpl. Edward Bevan, LY 5-7255; Salvation Army, HA 1-3050, or S/Sgt. Shafer, WY 2-4788.

The collection points in the area are Stroudsburg post office; Famous Store, East Stroudsburg; Giant Market and Acme Store, both in the Stroud Township Shopping Center on Route 611.

Three Fined For Hunting Violations

THREE MEN were arrested by Game Protector John Spencer and two of his deputies over the weekend on game violations.

Arrested was Robert B. O'Brien, Summit, N. J. He was charged with lending his hunting license to another hunter. He paid a fine of $20 and was given a field receipt.

A. G. Bowman, Port Chester, N. Y., was charged with two counts. He paid a $50 fine on a charge of hunting without a non-resident license and a $25 fine for having a loaded rifle in his car while the vehicle was in motion. Field receipts were issued for both charges.

Barnes Vanderwerker of Tenafly, N. J., paid a $25 fine for having a loaded rifle in his car while it was in motion. A field receipt was issued to him.

The deputies aiding Spencer were John Guida and Robert Hartman.

Three Inductees To Report Dec. 14

THREE Monroe County men have been ordered to induction into the armed forces by Local Board 105, Stroudsburg.

Those ordered are Russell G. Hooey, Stroudsburg; Ernest E. Lesoine Jr., East Stroudsburg, and Clinton C. Pugh Jr., East Stroudsburg.

All will report Thursday, Dec. 14, 1961.

Stopped Car Hit In Rear; Two Injured

TWO people were injured in a two car accident Saturday at 9:30 p.m. The accident occurred in front of 231 Main St., Stroudsburg.

The injured are Manuel Deus, 16, of 752 Milford Rd., East Stroudsburg, and William Williams of 78 Lennox Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Deus received a brain concussion and Williams an injured right hand. Both are in the Monroe County General Hospital.

Police identified the drivers as Deus and Georgia Neal Burns, 18, of 15 Smith, St., East Stroudsburg.

Miss Burns told police that she had stopped to pick-up passengers and was struck from the rear by the Deus car.

Police estimated damage to the Deus car at $1,500 and to the Burns vehicle $1,000.

Charges of reckless driving will be filed by the police against Deus.

Criminal Cases In Monroe Are Fewer Than Last Year

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG, Dec. 11 — Monroe County criminal court during the past year heard cases involving 114 defendants — six fewer than the preceding year, records of the State Department of Justice indicated today.

Of the 114 defendants, 92 were convicted and sentenced in the county, with 80 entering guility pleas. In 12 instances the court found defendants guilty.

Of the 22 defendants in the county who were not convicted, 11 resulted in dismissal, three were acquitted by a jury—while eight were listed under "other no penalty disposition."

(As a point of comparison, in 1959 Monroe County criminal court heard cases involving 120 defendants—67 of whom were convicted and sentenced.)

Of the 92 defendants in the county last year drawing conviction and sentence, not one was given the death penalty. Ninteen were sentenced to Bureau of Correction institutions, 14 received suspended sentences or were placed on probation, 16 wound up in the county prison, and 43 paid fines or costs only.

Monroe County court also handled 53 nonsupport cases of which 48 defendants were convicted. All 48 were found guilty by the court and paid fines or costs.

Two Injured Sunday When Car Hits Tree

TWO persons were injured Sunday at 1:50 a.m. when their car failed to negotiate a curve on N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg and crashed into a tree.

The injured are Jack D. Russell Jr., 19, of Langhorne, the driver, and Edwin S. Vile, 19, of Penn Dell, a passenger.

Russell received a broken right ankle and lacerations to both hands. Vile had a broken arm and a brain concussion. They are both in the Monroe County General Hospital.

Russell told police that he was traveling south on N. Fifth St. and fell asleep. The car crashed into a tree on the left side of the road.

No estimate of damage was given by the Stroudsburg Police.

Preferred Stocks

By William A. Doyle

Q. I own some Fort Wayne & Jackson Railroad, $100 par, 5½ percent preferred stock. I bought this stock in 1956 and have received dividends of $2.75 a share every six months. I am well satisfied with this return. This railroad is leased to the New York Central. Is there any danger that my stock would be eliminated as a result of merger or reorganization?

A. There's little or no danger of that. The stock you own is a typical "guaranteed rail stock." This is a very interesting type of investment and one with which not too many people are familiar.

The Fort Wayne & Jackson Railroad stretches for 96.8 miles, from Jackson, Mich., to Fort Wayne, Ind. The New York Central leases the railroad under a perpetual contract—forever. It is operated as part of the Central's main line.

The Central pays an annual rental for use of the property. The rental amounts to 5½ percent of the par value of the Fort Wayne & Jackson preferred stock. That money is then paid to the holders of Fort Wayne & Jackson preferred, in the form of dividends.

The Fort Wayne & Jackson also has common stock outstanding. But no dividends are paid on the common.

The rental the Central pays to the Fort Wayne & Jackson is a "current expense" that must be paid, even before the Central pays its other expenses, such as interest on its bands.

It is considered most unlikely that anything will happen to affect your dividend in the foreseeable future. The Central will probably try to buy up this stock, sooner or later. It has done that with other leased lines.

Even if that happens, you won't have to sell. You'll go on collecting your dividends. Fort Wayne & Jackson preferred is now trading at around $74 a share. So, the annual dividend or $5.50 results in a current yield of close to 7.5 percent. That's an exceptionally high yield, for a relatively low-risk situation.

And there are a fair number of guaranteed rail stocks available on roughly the same basis. They can be smart investments for people who want fixed income. They are generally overlooked by today's investors who are seeking "growth stocks." Because the dividends on guaranteed rail stocks are fixed, they hold no growth allure whatsoever.

Q. I own shares of a certain mutual fund. I would like to obtain the names of other shareholders who reside in this area. Under what circumstances will the fund provide me with those names and addresses?

A. I don't know. Write to the fund's headquarters and find out. As a shareholder, you are entitled to inspect the shareholder list. The fund might cooperate with you and make it quite easy for you to obtain the information you want. Or the fund might make things difficult for you. You might even have to take legal action.

Let's hope you give the fund a darned good reason for wanting to inspect the shareholder list. You should realize that such a list can be valuable to lots of people—salesmen, etc.

If I found out that a company in which I own stock turned my name and address over to everybody who asked, I would scream blue blazes.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Health Tips Include One On Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Timely tips on Christmas trees, the livability of a heart and a warning for do-it-yourselfers are subjects in the medical news:

HOLIDAY

Christmas tres can be symbols of the holiday season—or a dangerous kindling for a holiday tragedy.

The accident prevention committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics suggests these safety precautions:

Check for falling needles and brittle twigs to make sure the tree you buy is not dried out. Buy a fireproofed tree, or spray it with fireproofing material. Keep the base in water, before and after decorating.

Keep the tree away from radiators or heat ducts which will dry it. Erect it securely. Decorate lower branches within reach of children with unbreakable ornaments. Guard against defective electrical connections.

LIFE OR DEATH

How long does a heart remain strong and viable when removed from the body after death?

Researchers report that they have removed hearts from guinea pigs after death and find that after 15 minutes these heart muscles retain the ability to recover their original strength.

After 30 minutes, the hearts could recover only 50 per cent of their normal activity.

WOOD OR WOE

Tropical woods can be a hazard for do-it-yourselfers, allergy experts warn.

Some tropical woods, including teak and mansonia, can cause a variety of physical problems in the mouth, the breathing tract and the skin. Persons exposed to fine saw dust from mansonia, for instance, sometimes develop inflammations in the eyes, the mouth and the stomach.

SHOW OR SHOE

When a woman complains that her feet hurt, and then points out that she buys only the most expensive, expertly fitted shoes, her podiatrist is likely to remind her that her shoes are only remotely the shape of her feet.

So says an article in curent Podiatry, considering the latest pointed toe high-heeled fashions. Various reasons exist for such fashions, but they are also signs of the times, says the article.

Farmers' Tax Guide To Be Released Earlier Than Usual

INTERNAL Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin announced today that the new 1962 edition of the 64-page Farmer's Tax Guide, Publication Number 225, is being released early this year, well in advance of the filing period, to afford farmers ample time to prepare their returns for the calendar year 1961. Commissioner Caplin said that one million copies of the comprehensive green and white booklet are now available for the asking at local Internal Revenue Service offices and from county farm agents.

The early release of the publication is part of Internal Revenue's stepped-up program for improved information, education and service to all taxpayers.

The 15 chapters of the booklet contain easy to read instructions in both general and specialized areas of Federal income and self-employment taxes as they apply to farmers. Discussed are: Filing Requirements and Return Forms, the Importance of Good Records (with illustrations of sample record forms), Farm Inventories, Trades, Condemnations, Diseased Livestock, the New Feed Grains Program Payments, Marketing Quota Penalties, and many other subjects. A Farmer's Tax Calendar has been added this year which tells the farmer what he should do and when he should do it it regard to his Federal taxes during 1962. A sample filled-in Federal Income Tax Return is also contained in the booklet.

Commissioner Caplin, in announcing the new edition of the booklet, pointed out that the expanded tax assistance program for farmers will include utilization of all news media to insure maximum dissemination of information on tax matters of interest to farmers, and the participation by Internal Revenue officials in meetings of local farm groups to discuss Federal tax problems, as well as offering assistance to farmers on an individual basis by telephone, letter, or personal visit to Internal Revenue offices.

O'Brien To Be Sworn In Jan. 3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Allegheny County Judge Henry X. O'Brien, elected to the State Supreme Court on Nov. 7, announced yesterday he will be sworn in as a member of the high court on Jan. 3.

O'Brien's office said Chief Justice John C. Bell of the Supreme Court will administer the oath in the court's Philadelphia chambers.

O'Brien, a Republican, defeated Democratic candidate Anne X. Alpern, who had been serving on the Supreme Court by appointment and was seeking a full term.

COUNCIL meeting, Monday night at the firehall, was brief. Some of the men had been out all day hunting. Wm. Heidler had been ill and was absent and Mayor Francis Drake was out of town. Current bills were paid. Russell Shellenberger was able to report work had been done on fixing the leak in a water main on Glenwood Ave. Mrs. Lillian Kitchen, tax collector, turned in $1166.00 in current taxes.

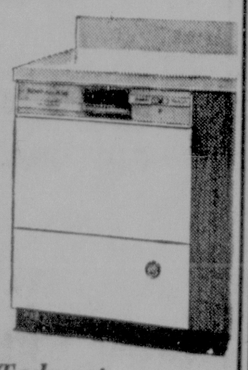

Much discussion was given to the letter from the Highway Department confirming that a speed limit of 35 miles per hour would be set for the section of Foxtown Hill Road, that is in the borough. That is already the limit for other sections of the borough roads.

Mrs. George Hauser and her daughter Lt. Commander Sylvia Hauser will be flying up to Allentown Airport from Virginia, Dec. 21. The H. J. InBars will drive down to get their guests who will spend Christmas in Water Gap.

Dear Abby

A Case In Point!

Dear Abby: I'd like to add my two cents to the debate of whether parents should teach their children to fight back:

When our son was young, he was picked on by every bully in the neighborhood. My husband forbid our boy to raise his hands in violence against another. Yes, even in self-defense. We held back the tears when the little fellow would come home bloody and whipped. My husband taught him that the difference between man and animal was that man was endowed by his Creator with the intelligence to reason. Animals relied on their brute strength. Today our son is an outstanding lawyer. In his childhood he lost many a fist fight, but since he has achieved manhood he has lost very few cases.

PROUD MOM

Dear Abby: The letter from MRS. A., who didn't know what to do about her son who took a licking from all the kids in the neighborhood, reminded me of my own experience:

When our boy was seven, he took numerous beatings from a neighbor boy who was the same age, but much bigger. From my window I saw the bigger boy pick a fight with mine. My boy would run away, but the bigger boy would chase him and continue to hit him. I got so furious I ran outside, took my boy's fists and literally FORCED him to pound the other boy, but good. The boy's father came out and do you know, he TOOK ME TO COURT! It seems there is a law against what I had done. From then on I let the boys fight it out themselves.

LEARNED A LESSON

Dear Abby: I have news for MRS. A., whose son was the neighborhood punching bag. I was once in that spot myself, but fortunately we had an uncle living with us who used to be a prize fighter. He taught me how to take care of myself if anybody got rough. I didn't have to use my dukes many times, but when I did, it came in very handy. You should have told the mother to give the kid boxing lessons.

SMALL BUT POWERFUL

Dear Abby: I used to live by the rule, "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." If someone slugged me, I'd slug them back. I never lost an eye; but I lost plenty of teeth before I learned that knocking out somebody else's teeth didn't replace my own.

PEACE-LOVING

Dear "Proud Mom, Learned A Lesson, Small But Powerful" and "Peace-Loving": A compromise is usually the best way to settle an argument. In answer to the question, "Should a small boy be taught to fight back?, I quote Theodore Roosevelt:

SPEAK SOFTLY—BUT CARRY A BIG STICK."

Nurse Named As Head Of Area Office

MISS Muriel L. Dunlap, R.N., will head the regional office of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association Professional Counseling and Placement office in Philadelphia.

Included in the 37-county area are Monroe, Carbon, Wayne, Northampton, Pike, Lackawanna and Luzerne. The officeprovides service to hos-hospitals and other institutions seeking nurses, and to nurses seeking careers in counseling or placement.

Miss Dunlap is a native Pennsylvanian, having been born in Auburn, Susquehanna County. She is a graduate of the Mt. Sinai Hospital School for Nurses in New York City. Her career was centered in New York state for many years, with such assignments as director of nurses at the Foxton Hospital, Utica; instructor at the Univ. of Rochester; acting associate director, Nursing Education at Hunter College in New York City and director of Education at the Lincoln School for Nurses, New York City.

The state nurses association's Professional Counseling and Placement Service has been in operation since 1946, and serves the state through offices in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. National and international referrals of positions and personnel are available through affiliation with the American Nurses Association and the International Council of Nurses. The Philadelphia office is located at 1304 Land Title Building.

Milk Unit Proposes $1

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission proposed yesterday a $1 charge on gallon containers of home-delivered milk in Western Pennsylvania.

It proposed a 94-cent charge on the same containers purchased at the store.

The gallon containers would go on the Pittsburgh area market Jan. 1 under the new proposal. Earlier this year the commission approved their use in the Philadelphia area.

The price for the new container has been under discussion for several months.

The commission unveiled its latest price proposal at a public hearing on the question. It has 20 days to decide whether to make the decision final.

Unemployment Level Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced yesterday that the rate of unemployment dropped below the 6.8 per cent level last month for the first time in a year.

The seasonally adjusted figure for November was 6.1 per cent of the total labor force. This compares with 6.3 per cent in November a year ago and is the lowest since September, 1960, when the figure was 5.7 per cent.

President Kennedy broke the news "with great pleasure" in his speech at the AFL-CIO convention in Miami.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Penna. Will Join In Safety Drive For Holiday Season

TRAFFIC Safety Commissioner O. D. Shipley announced today Pennsylvania is among the Middle Atlantic States sponsoring a Christmas holiday highway "Lights On For Safety" campaign.

In an effort to alert drivers to the hazards of holiday travel, sponsoring agencies in Middle Atlantic States are calling upon motorists to operate their motor vehicles with headlights on during daylight hours from December 22 through December 25 and from December 29 through January 1.

Cooperating in "Lights On For Safety" are Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, and the District of Columbia.

"This joint effort is designed to reduce the toll of death and injuries on our highways during the Yuletide season," said Shipley.

"Each illuminated headlight will serve as a special reminder for the exercise of extreme caution during a particularly dangerous period on our highways and streets."

Shipley urged Pennsylvanians to demonstrate their interest in safety by driving with headlights on during the 12-day "Lights On For Safety" campaign.

"This is a time of year when brotherhood and love are foremost in the minds of man, and the cooperation of all drivers and help prevent tragedy for some family — perhaps yours," said Shipley.

Empty steel drums are much in demand in the Virgin Islands. Cut to various lengths, they wind up as musical instruments, in steel bands.

Kennedys To Holiday In Florida

Washington (AP) — President and Mrs. Kennedy will spend Christmas and New Year's Day in Palm Beach, Fla., at the estate of family friends.

Just how much time the President will spend in the resort area is not yet certain, the White House said Friday. He is considering a trip to Venezuela and Colombia sometime in December and Mrs. Kennedy will accompany him, if the trip materializes.

But the First Lady will leave for Florida about Dec. 15, White House press secretary Pierre Salinge announced Friday.

She may go down ahead of her two children, Caroline, 4, and John Jr., 1, to make arrangements for them at the home of Col. and Mrs. Capton Michael Paul.

The White House Christmas decorations will go up early and Mrs. Kennedy will be hostess at a party for the mansion's staff on Dec. 13.

Traditionally, the Kennedys have spent Christmas and New Year's in Florida, usually at the home of the President's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy. But it was reported the President considers his father's home no longer quite large enough.

This time, therefore, President Kennedy will use the Pauls' walled and secluded oceanfront home about a mile down a country road from the Kennedy family place.

The Pauls are friends of Kennedy's parents and the colonel is a West Coast financier with offices in Manhattan. Mrs. Paul is the widow of Charles Ulrich Bay, former ambassador to Norway.

Capone-Kussler Rites Have Christmas Theme

Bangor — Our Lady of Good Counsel Church was the scene of the pre-Christmas wedding of Miss Margaret Louise Kussler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Teel to John Anthony Capone, son of Mrs. Leonard Schiavone and the late Anthony Capone, Dec. 9.

Rev. Fitzgerald performed the 10 a.m. ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

The bride, escorted by her step-father, chose a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle with a scalloped Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand. The bouffant skirt fell to a Chapel train in tiers of tulle and lace. Panniers of Chantilly lace over tulle highlighted the front of the skirt. Her fingertip veil was held by a diadem of lace, sequins and pearls. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and rosary.

Mrs. Dawn Allen, Plainfield, N. J., was matron of honor. Her Christmas red peau de soie gown was ballerina length. She carried a cresent bouquet of red pom-poms. A white crown completed her attire.

Betsy Keen, Mt. Bethel; Kay Kussler, sister of the bride; Susan Padula, Bangor and Eve Bender, Wind Gap were bridesmaids. Their peau de soie gowns were in emerald green and were ballerina length. They wore white crowns and carried white fur muffs trimmed with holly.

Miss Dawn Allen wore a red velvet gown trimmed with white lace as flowergirl. She carried a basket of poinsettias.

Michael Allen acted as ring bearer. He and Dawn are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Al Allen, Plainfield, N. J.

Frank Capone, Locke Heights, acted as best man. William Earl Baughman, Winfield Harry Renshaw, John LeRoy Rodericks and Earl Randolf Floyd, all in the United States Navy were ushers.

Jean Pinto sang selections accompanied by organist Loretta Finkbeiner.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Lily Pond Lodge. Mrs. Capone is a graduate of Bangor High School and is employed by Chi-Chi Fashions.

Mr. Capone graduated from Bangor High School and is a member of the United States Navy.

They will honeymoon in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Interested In Writing Greeting Card Verses?

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

In the past few months, many of you have written me asking how to get a job writing greeting card verses for the major greeting card companies.

Unless you are able to apply directly for a staff job because you live in or near a city where a greeting card company is located, your best approach is to work toward becoming a free lance contributor, since many greeting card editors depend upon getting ideas from free-lanchers as well as from the staff.

Essential Qualifications

The qualifications you need for making a success of this work are an inherent flair for words and a willingness to add good solid study and know-how to this flair.

The most practical way to build up this study and know-how is to haunt the card stores in your town. In most stores, if you buy a few cards after a browsing session, the proprietors won't mind how often you visit their counters. And you need to buy cards for study anyhow!

If interested proprietors don't point out on their own the cards people buy the most, by all means ask, for this will be your cue on what card to take home for further study and analysis.

Re-Write Cards

After you've studied and analyzed a good many cards for the techniques that have put them over, try—for practice—re-writing these same cards in your own words, based on your own ideas. This is a technique that many professionals use and a stimulus for starting your own ideas flowing.

Another aid for starting your own ideas going is a notebook in which you constantly jot down thoughts as they occur to you. Be a professional eavesdropper! Constantly listen to people talk wherever you are and jot down the clever phrases they use. Do the same thing when you're reading, listening to the radio or viewing television.

Keep a section of your notebook for rhymes and phrases of alliteration as they occur to you. And study the best light verse currently being published. All of this will give you background.

When you feel you have something worthwhile to send to greeting card editors, make a list of the major companies. Your local card store can supply names and addresses if you don't have them.

Type your verse or idea for each separate greeting card you have in mind on a separate 3x5 index card, along with your name and address and an identifying number for each verse. You can submit more than one card idea or verse at a time, but limit yourself to 10 in one mailing. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the return of anything the editor doesn't want. If something comes back from one company, try it on another.

Actually, "Keep trying" is the platitude in any free lance business such as this. In the beginning, one rejection after another is the discouraging welcome that comes to most people trying to enter the field. But if you're good, and keep improving, there will utimately be a place for you, so don't let beginning rejections throw you.

If you are interested in a list of books that will help you in this work, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this newspaper.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Hardly anybody was humming "Walking in a Winter Wonderland" as they slodged through the muck yesterday. The first December snow fall wasn't good for much of anything except getting your feet wet.

It didn't add to the scenic beauty, as it slowly turned a tattle-tale gray in the drizzle. It didn't pack for snowballs and wasn't deep enough for sledding. And it didn't come soon enough or hard enough to trap the houseful of guests at Bartholds.

A number of them, remembering two winters ago when the poker club got trapped for three glorious days of depleting the freezer, went home reluctantly Saturday night but they couldn't honestly have worked up a good excuse with that smidgen of snow.

However, it was a good and adequate excuse for drowsing through the gray Sunday afternoon with the card table up and the Christmas cards and list in front of you to ease your conscience.

It's too bad that the rest you take in advance doesn't seem to make much difference in the rush which follows and this week is going to be all rush. Clubs save their finest programs for the December meeting and seem to assign their most accomplished cooks to the December hostess committee, their most effective decorators.

Members themselves get decked out in their gayest colors, their pleasantest manners: so nobody wants to miss anything. Besides which we've got to deck the hall, wrap the packages, stock the larder, and—oh, yes—those Christmas cards.

The Wyckoff Shopper — "the friendly store" — A.B. Wyckoff Stroudsburg, Pa.

It wasn't difficult collecting notes for a column today! On the stairway enroute to our first floor, I met Bill Wells who said, "Oh, Madalyn—how about telling everyone we have some marvelous Suburban Coats for Boys, sizes 6 to 18, all wool with pile lining in varied patterns, Gray and Loden, at 12.98. They're a good coat, and the kind a boy can wear to Sunday School or school—all purpose. I think parents will be interested in knowing about them."

That's the way I like to be given ad notes . . . complete, concise, and without prodding. Then Bill thought of something else: "You might also mention our new full length boys' topcoats—zip coats with removable pile lining. All wool, sizes 12 to 20, assorted patterns and solids, 19.98."

With that he was gone, like a breeze. If you should meet him anywhere along the way, please tell him I repeated his message. He's a fast moving fellow, and like all the executives here in our store, almost impossible to meet when you're looking for him!

* * *

At the foot of the stairs, headed briskly for her department and peering out (as usual) from behind boxes of glamour merchandise was Cora Albertson who, if she doesn't mind my saying so, is mighty frisky for a little lady who's just come through a serious illness.

"MADALYN!" she exclaimed, "just look what I have. Aren't they beautiful?" She showed me the luscious prints beneath the folds of tissue. "Smock dusters by Marilyn," she explained, as I fell in step behind her and waited until she was able to take out a few and display them on hangers. This was one of the times I wished for adjectives unlimited at my command, for these are choice. They are fashioned with a deep circular yoke, front and back, of floral print combining orchid and turquoise or orchid and pink, on sheerest white nylon over plain nylon. The lines are gracefully flowing; the sleeves are generously puffed and quite short. In sizes S,M, and L these are made to delight the hearts of every very feminine woman, and are priced at 11.00.

At a slightly higher price . . . 18.00 . . . Cora offers a Princess style robe of creamy (antique white) Candlelight nylon, quilted in a double chain effect that is subtly decorative. The collar is ornamented with graceful satin scrolls and the size range is 10 to 18. This robe is regal . . . bridal . . . exquisite, and the off-white color reminds me of a cherished bridal gown of a past generation, slightly yellowed from age but oh, so precious!

* * *

While we're on the subject of bridal attire, I might mention that already there's a date on my calendar for Wednesday, February 14th, 1962. Mrs. Al Van Driesen, and Mrs. "Pat" O'Neill, wife of the Canadensis Methodist minister, visited my office the other noon hour to tell me a fashion show of wedding gowns from past years . . . even past generations . . . is planned for that very romantic date, St. Valentine's Day, and to ask if I'd serve as commentator. I can't think of anything I'd rather do, and if you're half as sentimental as I, you will probably wish to attend. Why don't you mark the date on your '62 calendar?

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day it is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1961

March 21 to April 20 (Aries—Stormy weather ahead? It can't all be clear sailing! Up to you to counteract with best program you can muster. Time-saving devices, new methods, better tempo and timing asked.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Most auspicious influences. Planet Venus says be in like mood and project your finest efforts to coincide. And alert to current opportunities. Maintain sensible impetus, ambition.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—No penalties IF you heed lessons learned from experience. Compensate for delayed starts by increasing momentus as day, week progresses. Be amenable to expertly grounded hints, advice.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Refreshing manifestations in your sector. Have even disposition dominate the situation. Carry on objectively and don't waste precious time on irrelevant issues.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Some upsetting tendencies in the neighborhood. Adroit and rapid action can surmount "wet blankets." Be modest, yes, but not prudish; be on happy-medium level for all-round good and gain.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Aware of what goes on? Good. The rightly well-informed person gets ahead. Be ready to dig in and double effort if necessary. Shun extremes, the immaterial.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Like Cancer, your Venus radiates expansive vibrations. Aim to accomplish major portion of you program. Be duly receptive, cooperative, and militant where rights are questioned.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Don't sidetrack fine opportunities because of foolishness and other hindrances. Influences not all helpful, but this should not deter your able efforts. Be vigilant!

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Helpful aspects from major planet Jupiter. Stimulating, productive period strongly advocated. A tonic to be digested. Appreciate gifts, kindnesses. Look beyond the present.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Day's attitude is prone to instill a feeling of lethargy unless you arouse self. Make essential changes without disrupting due routine. Adjust to conform with needs.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Commence week by weeding out the nil. Attend deserving items promptly. Then focus efforts on week's new requirements, determine priority of treatment carefully. Listen to constructive ideas.

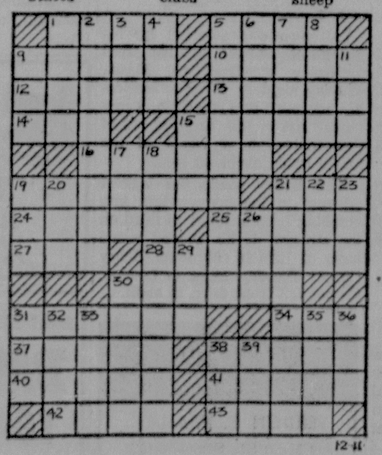

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Kindly yet incisive criticism should be given and welcomed. When we know our shortcomings, then and only then can we successfully take corrective action. This will lead to faster future progress.

YOU BORN TODAY are vibrant, personable, a hard worker. Perhaps at times oversensitive and again somewhat stubborn, but basically a noble, generous individual. Your place in the community is one of respect, deference, with accent on neighborliness IF living true to inherent qualities under your Sign. It is rare that you could present a dull or uninteresting profile. Your magnetic personality shines and infuses those about you with a happy, optimistic attitude. Keep yourself in hand always, don't spend money or time foolishly, and ascertain just who are your real friends. Your nature is to improve continually. Giants Clinch Tie For Eastern Title

Buckeyes Whip Deacons

Ohio State, Cincy Continue To Dominate Hoop Picture

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks like another big year for Ohio State and Cincinnati, the Titans of college basketball.

The 1-2 teams in the season's preview Associated Press poll continued to roll along in the new campaign.

Ohio State, led by All-America Jerry Lucas, passed a major test with flying colors Saturday night when it invaded Winston-Salem, N.C., and crushed Wake Forest's third-ranking Deacons 84-62. Ohio State is now 4-0 and Wake Forest 2-1.

Lucas scored 23 points in part-time service. Mel Nowell got 19 and Johnny Havlicek 18 for the Buckeyes. Havlicek, the all-around ace, held Len Chappell, Wake Forest's 6-8 star, to 15 points.

Break Open

Leading only 37-31 at halftime, the Buckeyes ran up a string of 13 points in about 1½ minutes to break the game wide open.

Cincinnati, the No. 2 quintet which upset Ohio State for the NCAA championship, ran its victory streak to 25 games by walloping Wisconsin at Madison, 86-67, in an afternoon game.

Cincinnati now is 3-0 and Wisconsin 2-1.

The Bearcats will be tested Monday night by Drake (2-0) which swamped Illinois College 110-48.

Providence, Purdue, Kansas State and Seattle, the other top ten teams to see action Saturday, also came through victoriously.

Two giants, veteran Jimmy Hadnot (6-10) and rookie John Thompson (6-11), paced fifth-ranked Providence (3-0) to a 75-51 trouncing of St. Francis of Brooklyn.

Purdue Wins

Purdue, ranked sixth, made its record 2-0 by thumping Detroit, 91-66. All-America Terry Dischinger scored 23 points but yielded high honors to teammate Mel Garland, who had 26.

Kansas State, guilded by a Hoosier, whipped Indiana University at Bloomington, Ind., 88-78, for its third straight triumph.

Seattle, ranked tenth, just edged Idaho in a thriller, 69-68.

West Virginia (4-0), another leading contender for national honors, thumped previously unbeaten Furman 96-79 at Greenville, S.C., in a Southern Conference contest.

In some other major games Dayton defeated St. Joseph (Pa.) 78-67; Iowa trounced Miami (Ohio), 75-55; Toledo nipped Iowa State, 68-64; Illinois beat Oklahoma 72-60; UCLA whipped Kansas 69-61; Utah whacked Loyola (Los Angeles) 100-71; Michigan State tripped Tulsa, 90-70 and Texas topped Tulane, 96-65.

Benched Conerly Directs 28-24 Win

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Old Charley Conerly, who has been rusting on the bench this season, pulled together a staggering New York offense leading the Giants to a 28-24 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday and at least a tie for the Eastern Division title of the National Football League.

The 40-year-old quarterback relieved Y. A. Tittle in the second quarter with the Giants trailing 10-7 and before the cold, gray afternoon ended tossed three touchdown passes, two to Del Shofner and one to Joe Walton.

The passing accuracy and aplomb of the veteran from Mississippi enabled New York to break the first place deadlock with the Eagles and put the Giants in position to win the division title next week in their regular season finale against the Cleveland Browns.

Playoff Possible

The Giants now can clinch the division title next weekend by defeating Cleveland, which dropped out of contention Sunday by losing to the Chicago Bears. A Giants' loss to the Browns and an Eagles victory over the Detroit Lions in their season finale would again knot Sunday's contenders for first place and force a playoff.

Despite biting, 32-degree weather, the game developed as expected into a passing duel, but it was Conerly rather than Tittle who was the adversary for Philadelphia's talented young Sonny Jurgensen. Jurgensen also connected for three touchdown passes, two to halfback Tommy McDonald and one to end Pete Retzlaff. Stymied by an aroused Philadelphia defense which forced Tittle out of the pocket, Giants' Coach Al Sherman yanked Tittle in favor of Conerly in the second quarter.

The "Old Man" of the NFL sent New York off the field at halftime with a 14-10 edge as he passed 35 yards to Walton for New York's second touchdown.

ESSC Faces Bowie State Here Tonight

EAST Stroudsburg State College basketball team won't be able to find out how good it is against Bowie State of Maryland tonight but the Warriors will at least be able to tell how bad they are.

Tonight's game is listed for 8 at Normal Hill.

Bowie, small teachers college between Baltimore and Washington, is probably the weakest opponent the Warriors face this year. Even perennial whipping boy Cheyney beat Bowie. So unless East Stroudsburg can get by the Maryland team, the rest of the season looks dark for the winless Warriors.

East Stroudsburg lost 87-71 to Scranton in its opener Tuesday and Thursday was bombed 94-79 by Philadelphia Textile. In the two games, the Warriors have scored 150 points and their opponents 181.

Hopewell Leads

Russ Hopewell is the only Warrior with a double figure scoring average. Hopewell scored 21 against Scranton and 16 in the Textile game. Sophomore Paul Grube is next in line with a 9.5 average. Grube had 14 points in the opener and five against Textile.

Scott Weaver and John Murphy have each scored 17 points in two games. Weaver hit for 16 in the Royal game but was limited to one point Thursday. Murphy had all his points Thursday.

Although East Stroudsburg beat Bowie last year, this will be the first meeting of the two clubs.

East Stroudsburg was awarded a 2-0 forfeit win last year, when a heavy snowstorm prevented officials from arriving at the Bowie gym.

There is no preliminary game listed for tonight but East Stroudsburg will try to line-up an opponent for the junior varsity today. A game against the Moravian freshman had been tentatively booked for today.

Layne Tosses 4 TD Passes In 30-14 Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veteran Bobby Layne tossed for four touchdowns Sunday as he led Pittsburgh to an easy 30-14 National Football League victory over winless Washington.

Layne connected on 13 of 19 passes and had none intercepted.

For Washington, it was the 12th loss in a season without a victory. The Redskins have tied once. Pittsburgh now has a 6-7 mark.

Cleverly mixing his attack, Layne hit rookie Bill Mack for two touchdowns on 10- and 6-yard tosses, Preston Carpenter on a 40-yard play, and Buddy Dial on a 5-yarder.

Fred Dugan set a new Washington season record for pass catching with 6 Sunday for a total of 50 and scored both Redskin touchdowns, one on a 9-yard toss from Norman Snead and the other on an 11-yard heave from George Izo.

The Steelers scored the first time they got the ball, marching 64 yards.

In the Tradition of Walter Camp,

The Nation's Coaches Select the 72nd Annual All-America Football Team

The eastern half of the nation dominates the 1961 edition of the Original All-America as picked by ballots of the 2,000 members of the American Football Coaches Association. Syracuse's record breaking Halfback Ernie Davis, Ohio State Fullback Bob Ferguson and Colorado Guard Joe Romig are repeaters from last year's All-America.

The coaches' votes for the All-America team, sponsored for the second year by Eastman Kodak Company, were based on careful evaluation of each player's season performance, including the slow motion analysis of game movies.

Here's the 1961 first team of the Original All-America, inaugurated in 1889 by Yale's Walter Camp:

Liberty, Bluebonnets Bowls Keep Grid Extras Moving

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syracuse and Miami in the Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia and Kansas and Rice in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston keep the bowl binge going following the eight-game post-season spree last Saturday.

The two contests featuring major college teams very evenly matched will be on view this Saturday for most of the nation. The Syracuse (7-3)-Miami of Florida (7-3) tilt will be telecast by NBC while the Kansas (6-3-1)Rice (7-3) affair will be screened by CBS.

In the big game last weekend, Baylor (5-5) took advantage of fumbles by Utah State's (9-0-1) previously unbeaten Skyline Conference co-champions and scored an upset 24-9 victory in the inaugural Gotham Bowl game at New York's ancient Polo Grounds.

Gorillas Win

Pittsburg (Kan.) State's Gorillas, the No. 1 small college team in the Associated Press poll, topped Linfield (Ore.) 12-7 for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) title in the Camelia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.; Cameron (Okla.) edged Bakersfield (Calif.) 28-20 in the Junior Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena, Calif., for the National Junior College championship; Florida A & M beat Jackson (Miss.) State College 14-8 and gained the mythical national Negro title in the Orange Blossom contest at Miami, Fla.; New Mexico thumped Western Michigan 28-12 in the Aviation Bowl at Dayton, Ohio; Panhandle (Okla) conquered Langston (Okla.) 28-14 in the All-Sports Bowl at Oklahoma City; Fort Eustis (Va.) nosed out the Quantico Marines 25-24 for the inter-service championship in the Missile Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Fort Campbell, Ky., blanked Fort Bragg, N.C., 22-0 in the Dragon Bowl.

Chicago Ends Crown Hopes Of Cleveland

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears dashed Cleveland's title hopes Sunday with a 17-14 victory in which they packed all their scoring in the final quarter.

The Bears turned a Cleveland fumble into a nine-yard field goal by Roger LeClerc with 3:30 left to play and snapped a 14-14 tie to score their first victory over the Browns in four league meetings.

The outcome assured New York at least a tie for the Eastern Division championship of the National Football League. Had Cleveland won, the Browns could have tied for the title by defeating New York next week.

Cleveland whacked the Bears for a pair of touchdowns in the first quarter and blanked them through the first three quarters. Early in the fourth period, Willie Galimore barreled into the end zone from the three-yard line, climaxing a 55-yard drive engineered by quarterback Ed Brown who was filling in for injured Bill Wade.

Hits Coia

Minutes later, Brown uncorked a pass to Angelo Coia which covered 64 yards for the game-tying touchdown. LeClerc booted the winning field goal when a drive by the Bears sputtered on the one-yard line. Cleveland's first touchdown came on a screen pass from quarterback Milt Plum to fullback Jimmy Brown.

Plum passed 13 yards to Bob Crespino for the Browns' final touchdown.

Veteran Lou Groza booted both Cleveland extra points giving him a National Football League total of 826 points, one more than the record 825 set by Don Hutson, one-time Green Bay great.

Cannon Hot As Houston Belts Titans

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Cannon ripped apart the New York Titans' specially prepared defenses Sunday for a remarkable 330 yards and scored five touchdowns as the Houston Oilers clinched at least a tie for the American Football League's Eastern Division title with a 48-21 victory.

Cannon broke the league single game rushing record with 216 yards, scoring twice on runs of 61 and 53 yards in the second half. He scored twice in the first half on 67 and 15 yards passes from George Blanda. His other touchdown was a two-yard plunge with 17 seconds to play.

Blanda also passed 33 yards to Charlie Hennigan for another score, added 16 and 27-yard field goals and kicked the extra points after each of Houston's six touchdowns.

49ers Shade Packers On Field Goal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's kicking specialist, Tommy Davis, booted a 14-yard field goal with 11 seconds left Sunday, giving the 49ers a 22-21 victory over the Green Bay Packers, National Football League Western Division champions.

Just two minutes earlier the Packers' Jim Taylor had scored a touchdown to give Green Bay a 21-19 lead which chilled the crowd of 55,722 in Kezar Stadium.

Fleet Abe Woodson took the ensuing kickoff on his 9 and returned it 46 yards to the Green Bay 45, putting the 49ers back in the game.

Hits Casey

Quarterback John Brodie, a star with the forward pass all day, hit Bernie Casey for 17 yards and R. C. Owens for 15, moving to the Packers 13. Four plays later, with fourth down on the 7, Davis kicked his game winning three-pointer.

The defeat was only the third of the 1961 campaign for Green Bay, which already had locked up the division title with 10 victories.

San Francisco remained in third place at 7-5-1 and kept a chance to tie Detroit for the No. 2 spot.

Canadian Pro Fires 66 For Florida Win

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Twenty-year-old George Knudson, a little Canadian who belts the ball hard, stroked a five-under-par 66 Sunday to win the $20,000 Coral Gables Open, his first major golf victory.

Knudson, Toronto pro, came in with a 72-hole total of 11-under-par 273 to grab the $2,800 first money.

Second money of $1,900 went to Gay Brewer Jr., who was bidding for his third straight tournament victory. Brewer, of Crystal River, Fla., fired a 65 for a 274 total.

Young Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., who had shared the third round lead, and Argentine Chico Miartuz tied for third place with 277s. Sikes shot 37-35—72, Miartuz 34-35—69.

Old pro Sam Snead followed, a stroke behind. He carded 35-34—69.

Knudson, who started in a first-round deadlock with Miartuz, fired a hot 32 going out and a two-under-par 34 on the back nine. Brewer, who won the Mobile and West Palm Beach opens, also was out in 32. He sank a 25-foot putt on the last hole for a 33.

Jackson Scores 4 Touchdowns In Dallas Romp

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Frank Jackson, the budding minister, scored four touchdowns and Cotton Davidson passed for two and set up two Sunday as the Dallas Texans lashed the Denver Broncos 49-21 in the American Football League.

Denver lost its seventh straight game — a new record in the AFL. Dallas and Denver had shared the record at six going into Sunday's game.

Jackson had his greatest day as a Texan. He ran 40 yards for one touchdown, eight for another, took a 20-yard pass from Davidson for a third and raced 30 yards for the final.

Champion Ready To Clear Up Middle Title Picture

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gene Fullmer said Sunday he is more than anxious to clear up the controversial world middleweight boxing title and is willing to meet the co-holder of the championship, Terry Downes or challenger Paul Pender.

"Fullmer would like to meet Downes in his native England or anywhere else and we will meet Pender in his home country of Boston or anywhere else," said Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson.

And the world welterweight champion, Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba, nursing what must be a world champion head and bellyache evidently is retreating back to the 147-pound division. Such was the aftermath Sunday after Fullmer blasted out a 10th-round knockout over the game, young Cuban Saturday night, ending Paret's dream of winning and holding two world championships.

Still Undisputed

Fullmer is still the undisputed ruler of the National Boxing Association portion of the middleweight title.

Downes is recognized in Europe but only in New York and Massachusetts in this country. Gene is the champion in the other states, Mexico, Asia, the Orient and certainly his home town of West Jordan, Utah.

Paret's manager Manuel Alfaro said his fighter would meet either ex-champion Emile Griffith or contender Jore Fernandez of Argentina March 24, the site yet to be decided.

Griffith won the title from Paret last April, kicking Benny out in 13 rounds, and lost the title back to Paret in 15 rounds on a decision in September.

Lions Dump Minn. 13-7 On Defense

DETROIT (AP)—The defensively alert Detroit Lions, with Dick (Night Train) Lane setting up their first 10 points with a blocked kick and pass interception, battered out a 13-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday.

Jim Martin booted late field goals for the victory margin that just about cinched second place in the National Football League's Western Division for the Lions.

Two fumble recoveries—one in the final five minutes that stopped a Viking drive at the Detroit 12—killed off Minnesota's chances for an upset before 42,655 at Tiger Stadium.

Lane, a veteran of 10 NFL seasons, blocked Mike Mercer's field goal attempt and the Lions turned it into a touchdown just 11 seconds before the half.

After the Vikings had tied the score in the third quarter, Lane intercepted a Fran Tarkenton pass and returned it 32 yards to the Minnesota 40. Martin booted a 43-yard field goal that sent Detroit ahead to stay.

Ring Names Champ Tops

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring Magazine Friday and the ranking of contenders for his heavyweight title underwent a shuffling due to a pair of two recent upsets.

Patterson was selected for his successful defense against Tom McNeeley of Brookline, Mass., Monday night in Toronto. McNeeley, unbeaten and rated No. 9 contender last month, dropped out of the rankings as a result of the fourth round knockout loss.

Zora Folley made the biggest advance in the heavyweight list, climbing from seventh to third on the strength of his second round kayo of British champion Henry Cooper Tuesday night in London. Cooper fell from third to sixth.

LA Triumphs 28-10

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Quarterback Jack Kemp came to life in the second half to make the San Diego Chargers lead over the Buffalo Bills secure in Sunday's American Football League game. The final score was 28-10.

Kemp was benched for most of the second quarter, during which the Chargers pulled ahead 14-10. He caught fire on returning to the game after the half and completed 11 out of 21 passes for a total gain of 213 yards.

The Chargers' record is now 12-1.

Mets Purchase Richie Ashburn

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets purchased outfielder Richie Ashburn, former National League batting champion, from the Chicago Cubs in a straight cash transaction Friday.

Ashburn, 34, batted .257 in 109 games last season. He is a veteran of 14 years in the National League, 12 with the Philadelphia Phillies with whom he won the batting crown with a .350 average in 1958.

Cards Rally For Victory Over Cowboys

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals spotted Dallas a 13-0 lead, then regrouped from Sam Etcheverry's two touchdown passes and John David Crow's running for a 31-13 National Football League victory Sunday.

The triumph kept the Cards in a fourth-place tie with Pittsburgh in the NFL's Eastern Division, both at 6-7, and dropped the Cowboys to a 4-8-1 standing in sixth place.

St. Louis meets the Steelers for fourth place in the season's wind-up here next Sunday.

Two quick Cardinal touchdowns early in the fourth quarter sewed it up. The first one took two plays, Etcheverry throwing 29 yards to Crow, then 27 to Sonny Randle for the touchdown. Dallas, which gained 146 yards running and passing in the first half, was halted with a net loss of 20 yards in the second half. The Cards had only 54 yards total offense in the first half then, rolled up 270 yards in the second.

Titans Get OK To Seek Davis

NEW YORK (AP) — President Harry Wismer of the New York Titans of the American Football League said Sunday he has been given permission by the Buffalo Bills to dicker for Ernie Davis, All America back from Syracuse University.

Both the Bills of the AFL and the Washington Redskins of the National Football League drafted Davis.

Full High School Hoop Schedule Set Tomorrow

EVERY area high school basketball team except Delaware Valley will be in action tomorrow night.

The feature game sends unbeaten Southern Wayne against Pocono Mountain at Swiftwater. The lone Cardinal loss was to the Stags a week ago.

Stroud Union (1-1) is at home against Pen Argyl (1-2), while East Stroudsburg opens its season at Brodheadsville against winless Pleasant Valley.

Bangor also opens its season tomorrow. The Slaters travel to Coplay for a non-league game with Coplay. Both teams are in the Lehigh-Northampton League but are in separate divisions.

Southern Wayne has won three in a row, including an 82-69 triumph over Pocono at Newfoundland last Tuesday.

Veteran Teams

The Stags have an almost all veteran team, while Pocono also is loaded with vets but the players are working together for the first time. This is the first year of operation for the Pocono Jointure.

Stroud Union hoping to rebound for a fearful 91-42 drubbing by Easton Friday is meeting a team that was also beaten Friday. Coplay whipped the Green Knights 71-66, the second loss for Pen Argyl, which won its opener against Northwestern.

Pleasant Valley has lost to Southern Wayne, Stroud Union and Friday dropped a 47-46 decision to Pius X. The Bears have shown marked improvement in almost every game.

East Stroudsburg will have a veteran in every position for its opener, although all were not starters last season.

What is a

HIEROGLYPH?

A hieroglyph is a character in the picture writing of ancient Egyptians and other ancient peoples.

The study of hieroglyphics is one part of the study of archaeology, a science that not only helps us to understand the development of past civilizations but, in so doing, helps us to a better understanding of modern civilization. Unfortunately many potential archaeologists may never study this important science because they may never go to college. Already some of our colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

Collapses, Dies

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—The 81-year-old rector of Holy Ghost Roman Catholic Church collapsed and died Friday while walking from the rectory to the church to celebrate mass. The body of Msgr. Scott A. Fasig was discovered by a passerby enroute to work. Msgr. Fasig, ordained in 1908, served parishes in Hamburg, Quakertown and Sellersville before moving to Holy Ghost.

Union Aides Indicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Teamster Union officials Lawrence J. Mullen, 57, and Joseph Westenberg, 51, were indicted yesterday on charges of demanding and receiving illegal payoffs from trucking companies and conspiracy to use the money to pay the legal expenses of another teamsters official.

The indictments were handed up to Chief Judge Thomas J. Clary in U.S. District Court.

They were accused of conspiring to use the illegal payoffs for the defense of Raymond Cohen, secretary-treasurer of Philadelphia Teamsters Local 107. Cohen is under a state indictment charging him with defrauding the local.

Mullen is secretary-treasurer of Philadelphia Local 161 and Westenberg is an organizer for Local 107.

Guided Missile Ship Launched

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — The United States Navy has a new guided missile destroyer, the USS Joseph Strauss, launched Saturday at the New York Ship Buildings yards here.

The vessel was named for the late Adm. Joseph Strauss, a naval ordnance expert who retired in 1925.

U.S. Rep. James E. Van Zandt, R-Pa., the principal speaker, said the U.S. will have 29 polaris submarines by 1964. At present, he said, the Navy has five with a sixth soon to join them.

"The polaris submarine and its complement of 16 polaris missiles represent an awesome answer to any Soviet attack against the United States or its vital interests," Van Zandt declared.

AIRWAYS, BUS LINES, RAILROADS, STEAMSHIPS, TOURS, ETC., INFORMED A NATION "ON THE GO" OF THEIR FACILITIES BY INVESTING OVER $52½ MILLION IN NATIONAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IN 1960. HOTELS AND RESORTS INVESTED NEARLY $21 MILLION. FOR THESE, AS WELL AS ALL OTHER ADVERTISERS... THE TOTAL SELLING MEDIUM IS THE DAILY NEWSPAPER!

Zulu Chief Receives His Nobel Peace Prize In Oslo

By GUNNAR J. BORREVIK

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A deposed Zulu chief Sunday accepted the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize, saying, "I regard this as a tribute to mother Africa, to all its peoples, whatever their race, color or creed."

Albrt John Luthuli, 62, said he agreed with the government of South Africa that he was unworthy to receive the award but the man who handed it to him called him a "straight, courageous leader."

Luthuli, gray-haired champion of nonviolent opposition to the white government policy of racial segregation in his native South Africa, is the first African ever to win the Nobel Peace Prize.

He stood erect in a stone-walled hall at Oslo University in the presence of King Olav V and many other dignitaries. He wore a flowing blue robe with black front and a leopard-skin cap with monkey tails hanging down the back.

It was a double ceremony. He had come from his banishment in a South African village to receive the delayed 1960 prize. The 1961 prize went to the late U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, killed earlier this year in a plane crash on a peace mission to the Congo.

In his acceptance speech, Luthuli praised Hammarskjold.

"I find it significant that his life was lost in Africa," Luthuli said. "Nobody knows how many times he saved the world from war.

"Let this peace prize and his death be a challenge to all leaders in the world to obliterate those conditions which he died fighting."

Luthuli was clearly moved when the chairman of the Norwegian Storting — Parliament — Nobel Committee, Gunnar Jahn, handed him the prize. But he had collected himself and was forecful when he went to the rostrum for the acceptance speech.

After the ceremony, King Olav walked over and chatted with Luthuli.

Swedish Ambassador Rolf Edberg, accepting the 1961 prize for the Hammarskjold estate, said the heirs had decided to create a foundation with the $48,640 prize money "to be used in some cause which was close to his heart." He did not elaborate.

Luthuli said on his arrival he had not yet decided what to do with his prize money.

Miss Hoellmueller, who had been a guest of Mrs. Otto Kirschner for some weeks, has returned to her home in Heidelberg, Germany, where she will be with her brother and an invalid wife.

There seems to be quite a movement aboard among Christmas card writers to send no such greetings to friends in their own home town whom they see from week to week.

The public school Christmas entertainment is listed for the night of December 19, the regular PTA meeting date. As there is limited space in the school rooms, invitations are restricted to parents and immediate families of the school children. Busy little hands at school now are working on surprise gifts for daddy and mother for Christmas.

The Presbyterian Church Women's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. H. J. LaBar Tuesday night with Mrs. Harold B. Croasdale, Mrs. Guyton Kempter, Mrs. Clifford Hauser, Mrs. Francis Drake, Mrs. Russell Buzzard Mrs. C. B. Rosenkrans, Mrs. Henry Kuip and Mrs. LaBar present.

Mrs. Drake led the devotional period and the missionary study. She invited the group to hold their January meeting at her home. Mrs. Rosenkrans and Mrs. Russell Shellenberger were named flower committee for December for the church. The women were able to pay off the last of the debt incurred when money was borrowed for church kitchen renovation. They are now out of debt.

A call was issued for the missionary calendars to be turned in as soon as possible. The proceeds help to take care of mission gifts. They may be turned in to Mrs. Drake. Mrs. Rosenkrans was appointed chairman to look after Christmas remembrance of shut-ins.

It was announced that the church choir, under direction of Mr. James Anthony, will take over the church worship service the morning of Dec. 24. That same morning, during the Church School hour, the children's Christmas exercises will be given.

A covered dish supper will be held at 6 o'clock. Other activities were discussed. Members present were Mrs. Leslie Steen, Mrs. Harold Trayes, Mrs. Edgar Dalberg, Mrs. Fred Ott, Mrs. Harry Michaels, Mrs. Phillip Strunk, Mrs. Horace Rusling, Mrs. William Smith and hostess Mrs. Raymond Beck.

26 Nations At Rome Congress

ROME (AP) — Two hundred specialists from 26 nations assembled here Sunday for the Roman Catholic Church's first international congress on vocations. Its aim will be to attract more youths to the religious life. Valerio Cardinal Valeri, prefect of the Vatican's congregation of the religious, preached the sermon today at Mass in St. Mary major basilica, opening function of the congress, which continues through Saturday.

President Of Brazil Seeks To Cure Country's Strife

(Editor's Note: The crisis which last summer threatened civil war has seriously worsened again in Brazil, which is second in the Americas only to the United States in size and population. Controversial President Joao Goulart controls Brazil's destiny. Rarely accessible to foreign newsmen, Goulart discussed his country's future Saturday with Stan Swinton, World Services Director of the Associated Press.)

By STAN SWINTON

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—President Joao Goulart promises a great new effort to cure Brazil, the sick giant of Latin America, "within democratic institutions."

He openly resents "North American press reports that I am a Communist agitator."

With the Brazilian crisis more acute than at any time since civil war threatened last summer, Goulart remains optimistic.

"I believe that we can find the necessary remedies within the democratic system itself," the controversial 43-year-old Brazilian leader told the Associated Press in an exclusive interview Saturday.

Goulart conceded Brazil's crisis continued "very active and alive."

But, he added, "We hope to be able to overcome it with much effort and struggle within a short time."

Midsummer in Brazil is an unlikely time and place for grave crisis. A rainbow of beach umbrellas arches miles down the fabulous white Copacabana sands. Sunbathing thousands lazily watch shapely girls in bikinis and bronzed beach boys dive in the tumbling surf.

Yet as Goulart spoke, Brazil was in more desperate internal trouble that at any time since civil war threatened last September. Brazil's currency, the cruzeiro, has plunged to more than 400 to the U.S. dollar, skidding more than 50 per cent in less than a year. Savings have been wiped out. Living costs are racing upward far faster than salaries so inflation touches the life of every housewife and worker.

Huge amounts are owed aboard. Coffee prices are down and African coffee threatens traditional European markets. Pending legislation controlling the export of profits has frightened foreign investment.

Against this background, Goulart's optimistic hopes are not widely shared by other influential Brazilians.

There is an often stated belief that the army will restore to power Janio Quadros, who quit the presidency in frustration last August but who still has wide popular support.

Goulart, a millionaire landowner, twice was elected vice president with Communist support. On a trip to Washington, he spoke warmly of the United States—and equally warmly of Communist China on a trip to Peiping.

He repeatedly has denounced Communism publicly but far leftists are among his close advisers. The army, fearful he might lead Brazil to the left, let him succeed Quadros only after presidential powers were whittled down.

Goulart is looking forward to a state visit to Washington in February.

Woman Arrested For Intoxication

MRS. Helen Durant, 37, of East Stroudsburg RD 2, pleaded guilty to a charge of public intoxication Saturday before Justice of the Peace John Foelker, Stroudsburg.

She was arrested early Saturday morning by Stroudsburg Police on a complaint from a night clerk in a Stroudsburg hotel and committed to the Monroe County Jail to await a hearing.

Mrs. Durant also gave her address as U.S. A.F.B. Brenard, Fla.

Algeria was invaded by the Romans in 146 B. C., later by the Vandals, Byzantines, Arabs and Turks.

Author Stirs Tempest On Berlin Wall

FRANKFORT, Germany (AP)—A German best-selling author has kicked up a West German uproar with a speech about the Berlin wall.

Former Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano charged in Parliament that novelist Uwe Johnson, 28, committed "a crime against humanity."

Another German author, Hermann Kesten, accused Johnson of saying the Communist-built wall was "good, reasonable and ethical." Johnson called Kesten a liar, saying all he said was that the East Germans felt they had to build the wall to check an unbearable labor shortage.

Now most West German newspapers are rallying to Johnson's defense in the name of free speech.

A quiet-mannered man, Johnson left East Germany, where the Communists refused to publish his books, two years ago. A critic equally of communism and capitalism, he has said his departure from East Germany did not mean he was turning to the West.

His trouble began last month when he addressed a literary audience in Milan, Italy. He said the wall was a violation of human rights in Western eyes but a necessity in the view of East Germany. Johnson said the Communists were forced to build the wall to close an escape hatch through which four million East Germans had fled, creating a labor shortage.

Kesten, who lives in Rome, also spoke at the Milan meeting. In an article denouncing Johnson, published in West German newspapers, Kesten asserted Johnson had called the Berlin wall, "good, reasonable and ethical." Angry West German booksellers threatened to boycott Johnson's works.

This brought publisher Giangiacomo Feltrinelli of Milan flying to the defense of Johnson. Feltrinelli won fame by publishing Boris Pasternak's novel, "Dr. Zhivago." He publishes Johnson's books in Italy and arranged the literary meeting at which the novelist spoke.

Feltrinelli produced a tape recording of Johnson's remarks at Milan. There was nothing about the wall being "good, reasonable and ethical." The publisher gave his word the tape had not been doctored.

Formosa Training

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China plans to institute compulsory four-year military training in Formosa's colleges and universities next year. At present only freshmen and sophomores are required to take military training.

on the SIXTH DAY of my WYCKOFF CHRISTMAS, my true love sent to me . . . six top gift items, that couldn't be better . . . from a shirt to a tie, plus a he-manly sweater.

OPEN TONIGHT
9:30 to 8:30

Expect her to wait for you . . . underneath the mistletoe! Bait the trap with your vibrant personality, your superb self-assurance (inborn in most men!) . . . and complete the scheme with savoir-faire in your magnificent Kingsridge sport coat. The Kingsridge "Lounger" acompolishes for you, what might require brute force in any other man . . . to keep that woman impressed. This outstanding sport coat features a bold, masculine cut with classic lines, natural shoulder and three button closing. Made even more distinctive by the subtlety of the plaid. This fine sport coat, only . . . 39.50, all sizes. Others 27.50 to 42.50. Closing the deal on a splendid partnership . . . would be the selection of a pair of Friedman slacks. Choose from flannels, gabardines, and Bedford Cords. Priced from 7.98 to 16.95. Good-looking colors in manly shades.

Style-aware shirt design by Arrow. The HITT. Notable for the convertible cuffs, fused collar, easy care, wash and wear . . . in White. 4.50
